VOL. 93 NO. 29 — VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, AUGUST 4, 1938—18 PAGES — PRICE FIVE CENTS

More Defences Planned Here, Says Minister

Mackenzie, Visiting Coast, Tells of Works Arranged For Next Year

Will Fly Across To Victoria

VANCOUVER (CP) — Next year, according to Hon. Ian Mackenzie, the Department of National Defence will concentrate on fortifications at Point Grey, overlooking the approach to Vancouver, and "near Victoria."

The location or nature of the latter project was not specified today by the minister, however, when he spoke of the plans.

Starting a month-long visit in his home city, Mr. Mackenzie, said his movements on the coast would include a trip to Vancouver Island. He stated he would "fly over to Victoria one of these days," but he did not set a date.

WORKS ADVANCED

The minister said the "second year" plans of the Department of Defence were being completed on the British Columbia coast, mentioning projects at Victoria, Patricia Bay, Vancouver, Prince Rupert and the Queen Charlotte Islands. He expressed himself as "very satisfied" with the progress. All interim defence equipment would be installed next year, and by 1940 orders for the most up-to-date equipment would have been filled.

Mr. Mackenzie was emphatic there was no relation between the defence policies of Canada and the United States. He said the proposed Alaska highway, which would run through British Columbia, was not considered in Dominion defence plans.

"Of course, if it were completed it would play a very important part," he added.

NO CONSULTATIONS

There had been no official consultations on defence between military staffs of Canada and the United States.

Mr. Mackenzie said the possibility of enlisting unemployed men in the militia was being studied, but no decision had been reached. This year more than 50,000 men were trained in the militia—an all-time record.

He said the department this year was spending more than $5,000,000 in British Columbia on defence, not including cost of equipment.

The Turner Valley in Alberta produced the base of the finest airplane gasoline in the world and its development as a supply source for the Royal Air Force was being studied, he declared.

The minister arrived in Vancouver from eastern Canada last night.

MEDIUM PRAIRIE CROP INDICATED

WINNIPEG (CP) — Prospects for the prairie wheat crop at the present stage are for neither a bumper yield nor bad failure, said the weekly market news crop survey issued today.

The report, based on replies from 357 correspondents in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, states cutting is almost general in Manitoba, but Saskatchewan and Alberta require 6.5 and 10.5 days on the average to maturity.

Filling of wheat heads is fairly satisfactory, the report adds. Filling was reported as normal from 224 points, below normal at 119 and above normal at 14.

THE WEATHER

VICTORIA, 5 a.m. today—Pressure continues high west of Vancouver Island, some heavy rain has been reported on the north coast and light showers have occurred in other parts of northern British Columbia. Russian Wings Over Orient

Big Soviet war planes, like those pictured above during recent manoeuvres in the Far East, are reported to be flying along the Siberia-Manchukuo-Korea boundary, though Russian leaders deny they have made raids on areas in Korea. Russian bombers have been used in the fighting at Changkufeng, which, the Japanese say is in Manchukuo and the Soviet claims is in Siberia.

DOUKHOBOR FIRES PROBED

Attorney-General Wismer said today an investigation is being made by the provincial police of the burning of a church at Thrums and a school at Pass Creek in the Doukhobor districts.

The fires were believed of incendiary origin as have been scores of others in the Doukhobor districts. Mr. Wismer said every effort would be made to find the culprits.

Island Resorts Draw Tourists

Delayed Northward Movement Starts With California Influx

After lagging for a long time, tourist travel up the Island Highway has started in earnest, according to Frank Giolma of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

For the last month up-island resort operators have been complaining that while Victoria was enjoying a record travel influx their places were empty and their business was the worst in several years. Now the vacancies are starting to be filled.

Mr. Giolma attributes the start of the northward flow to the realization by tourists that the fire menace is ended and that the 100,000-acre Campbell River-Courtenay blaze has done little damage to the island's scenery, at least as far as it is visible from the highway.

The up-island movement has started just as the yearly August influx of Californians to Victoria is getting well into its stride.

This morning the ferry Iroquois came in with its heaviest load so far this year, 22 cars. Of these, 21 were from California. The 22nd car carried a family of Indians from the state of Washington.

A feature of this year's tourist travel is the number of women who are traveling alone. In the arrivals so far the women have outnumbered the men almost three to one.

With perfect weather and the tyee run well under way at Campbell River, upper Vancouver Island resorts are getting ready for a good, though delayed tourist season.

Little Promise of Relief Seen on Prairies and in the East

By the Canadian Press

The sun shone brightly over most of western Canada today, giving scant promise of relief from heat which gripped most of the Dominion. Thunderstorms were general in eastern Canada, but with their passing the weather was hot and sticky.

Two lives have been lost in eastern Canada due to the weather. James Durston, 49, collapsed yesterday in Brantford, Ont., and died of heat prostration. At St. Pierre in Montmagny County, Quebec, Alfred Caron, 48, was killed when struck by lightning.

The temperature was 80 degrees at Sudbury, Ont., shortly before noon, while at North Bay, Ont., it was 6 degrees lower. Sault Ste. Marie, where the mercury touched 87 yesterday for a new high, had another hot day.

Weather bureau officials at Montreal said it was the highest reading since July 1, 1931, when a record of 97 was reached.

Clear skies and a bright sun indicated higher temperatures during the day for Regina, Moose Jaw and Saskatoon. It was the same for Edmonton and Winnipeg, and most other western cities, although Edmonton experienced light showers during the night.

By the Associated Press

A general heat wave gripped the northern hemisphere today with the United States experiencing its full share of sultriness and the general high temperatures.

Maine, Texas, California and the Dakotas saw the mercury reach up into the nineties, and intermediate readings were generally equally hot.

The meteorological map showed three atmospheric "highs" over the nation, only a few scattered recordings of rain, and no likelihood of cooler weather anywhere for the next few days.

Changes Urged At High School

Seven Recommendations For Improvement at Victoria Institution Made

Seven recommendations dealing with Victoria High School were made by the government special committee surveying educational matters in the Greater Victoria area whose report was issued yesterday by Hon. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education.

Wider student participation in the government of the school and more assstance for the staff in putting the new school curriculum into operation are among the proposals.

Text of the committee's recommendations for the High School is as follows:

1. There should be more student participation in the government of this school. The work of the student council is too limited. The adoption of plan C for student government, as outlined in the new program of studies, page 474, should be adopted. The plan calls for the organization of a house system together with a boys' and girls' league. This plan provides for numerous committees and extends pupil participation in the affairs of the school.

SCHOOL CLUBS

2. The development of clubs on an extra-curricular basis which features a modern high school is definitely weak. The few clubs which do exist are held after school hours and embrace a very small percentage of the student body. One period a week of the school time should be definitely assigned to club work and a sufficient number of clubs should be organized so that practically every boy and girl in the school will have the opportunity of participating. Such a plan would provide an opportunity for realizing that aim of secondary education which seeks to develop leisure-time interests. Through the medium of these clubs the pupils are afforded an opportunity to develop those hobbies and interests which in later life will provide infinite enjoyment.

3. The improvement of instruction and assistance to the staff in adjusting their methods to the demands of the new curriculum can be carried out in the following ways. a. The principal should devote more time to supervision and leadership. b. The vice-principal should have a smaller teaching load and should be relieved of the duty of attending to supervision of halls and buildings during the noon hour and at other times. This work should be assigned to members of the staff and later taken over by the student body when properly organized. c. Heads of departments should have more time to organize their work and to supervise the teaching of their particular subjects. Unless the head of the department carries

Floods Hinder Japanese Drive Along Yangtze

Advance Toward Hankow, China's Capital, May Be Blocked

Guerilla Groups Widen Attacks

By LLOYD LEHBRAS
Associated Press Foreign Staff

SHANGHAI — Yangtze River floods threaten to block the Japanese advance upstream toward Hankow, the provisional Chinese capital.

Broken dikes 30 miles above Kiukiang were said Thursday by Chinese to have caused the inundation of large areas on the Yangtze's north bank and five towns the Japanese occupied this week after bitter fighting.

Chinese military sources believed the floods sufficient to force the Japanese to realign their offensive by making a wide sweep through Anhwei province and striking at Hankow from the north or northeast, instead of from the south or southeast. That would make them march through an extremely difficult mountainous region.

Floods, Chinese guerilla attacks, the Japanese-Soviet Russian border tension and the Chinese armies are causing the Japanese to face a general bogging down unless drastic measures are taken soon.

Wounded Chinese Taken From Hospital

HANGCHOW, China (AP)—Japanese troops posted machine-gun guards around the British-operated Church Missionary Society Hospital Thursday and removed 103 wounded Chinese soldiers, under treatment since Japanese occupation of the city Christmas Eve.

The hospital charged non-recognition of the British flag and a violation of a written agreement providing that approximately 200 wounded should remain in the hospital for the duration of the war.

Eighty wounded, most of them either without arms or without legs, were left in the hospital.

Corrigan Soon In New York

Irish Flier Nears U.S. On Liner Manhattan; Faces Big Welcome

By PATRICK McGRADY
Associated Press Staff Writer

Ss. MANHATTAN, At Sea—Douglas Corrigan grinned with pleasure today as he stood at the rail of his New York-bound liner and looked forward to the welcome awaiting him.

The ship moved at half speed through fog. Corrigan was in a fog, too, as he remembered all that has happened to him in the month past—the flight in the old crate from California to New York, the takeoff for home, and his surprise at finding himself in Dublin.

A month ago, Corrigan was remembering, he was just another flier with an airplane that moved one and all to wisecracks. Today he was the most talked-of flier, and to him had come offers to make all kinds of money he had never dreamed of making—offers to endorse commercial products, such as tooth paste and cigarrettes, appear in night clubs or in front of movie cameras.

UNABLE TO DANCE

"But I can't sing and I can't dance," Corrigan grinned. "So I guess I'll stay in aviation."

He wore the old leather jacket and grey trousers he had on when he flew solo from New York to Ireland.

"If I make another flight in the old plane I expect to set the compass properly," he said.

Again he insisted it was all a mistake that he went to Ireland, instead of going home to California that July 17 dawn when he left Floyd Bennett Field.

Japanese Propose Truce With Russia On Siberia Border

Soviet Guns In Action

But A.P. Writer Says Japanese Guns at Changkufeng Do Not Reply

By J. D. WHITE
Associated Press Foreign Staff

KOGI, Korea (Near the Siberian Frontier, by courier to Yuki)—From across the Rumen River I watched the Soviet army throughout today (Thursday) intermittently shell Japanese positions at Changkufeng and the nearby farmland on this side of the Tumen ferry.

Heavy shells threw up huge columns of dirt and water.

Two of them landed within a few hundred yards of where I stood watching with Japanese officers at this tiny mountain village overlooking the scene of the bombardment, territory in dispute between the Soviet and Japan.

FOLIAGE ON ROOFS

Japanese and Koreans nearby covered tin-roofed buildings with green foliage.

So far as could be seen, the Japanese did not return the Soviet fire, but at 1.45 p.m. two Soviet planes dived from the clouds over Changkufeng and Japanese anti-aircraft guns went into action.

Smoke puffs appeared close to the aircraft, which then returned to the northeast.

British Air Mission Sees Toronto Plants

TORONTO (CP) — Airplane production possibilities and general airport facilities of the Toronto district were scrutinized today by members of Britain's second air mission, who arrived from Montreal. They will leave tonight for Hamilton and Fort Erie, Ont.

The party visited the plant here of the National Steel Car Company, the De Haviland Aircraft Company and the civic airport at suburban Malton.

PEARL WHITE DIES IN PARIS

Actress of Old Silent Movie Thrillers Was Ill Several Weeks

PARIS (AP)—Pearl White, first heroine of the old American movie serial thrillers who always did her own daredevil stunts, died today in the American Hospital here.

She was 49 and had been ill for several weeks of a liver ailment.

Friends said the funeral probably would be held Saturday, with burial in the Passy Cemetery, near Miss White's town house.

The actress was in a coma for 24 hours before her death.

In the days when the motion picture business was young, movie audiences in the United States and Canada and on other continents, sat on the edge of their seats thrilling to the "Perils of Pauline," an adventure-packed serial in which the beauteous heroine managed to reach death's door at the end of each chapter, never to die.

"Pauline" was blonde Pearl White, blue-eyed actress catapulted to fame as the first of the dare-devils of the screen. Besides the "Perils of Pauline" there were the "Exploits of Elaine" and a dozen other serials of the same melodramatic cast.

Pearl White grew rich on this. She went to Paris in the early twenties, and afterward saw little of the United States.

Miss White was born in Greenwood, Mo., March 4, 1889. She made her debut at six as Little Eva in "Uncle Tom's Cabin," and her parents got $5 a week for her work.

Soviet Sets Conditions To Be Met Before Peace Terms Discussed

Insists on Claim To Changkufeng

MOSCOW (AP) — Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff told the Japanese ambassador today that Soviet Russia would be willing to open negotiations for a peaceful settlement of the Manchukuan border dispute on certain conditions.

The conditions he stipulated were:

1. Fighting must cease.
2. Artillery must be withdrawn.
3. All Japanese soldiers must be evacuated from Soviet territory, and
4. Japan must recognize the Russian-Chinese treaty of 1886 and border maps attached to it.

These maps show the disputed Changkufeng area, where Russian and Japanese troops have been fighting for five days, as a part of Russian Siberia.

TOKIO (CP-Havas) — Japan Thursday proposed to the Soviet Union immediate cessation of hostilities on the Siberian-Manchukuo frontier near Korea, where fighting has been intermittently underway since last Sunday.

The proposal was made by Vice-Foreign Minister Kensuke Horinouchi to the Soviet charge d'affaires, Constantin Smetanin, during a two-hour morning conference at the Foreign Office here.

Simultaneously, it was learned, Ambassador Mamori Schigemitsu in Moscow called on the Soviet Foreign Commissar, Maxim Litvinoff, and presented a series of concrete proposals for termination of the dispute.

Shigemitsu's proposal were understood to be the following:

1. Cessation of hostilities.
2. Withdrawal of the Japanese and Soviet troops to a stipulated distance on either side of the disputed strip of hilly country around Changkufeng and Shatsaopin.
3. Temporary neutralization of the area and resumption of negotiations for creation of one or more commissions to delimit the frontier and settle frontier border incidents.

DESCRIBED AS MODERATE

Japanese spokesmen said these proposals showed Japan's moderation and would serve to "uncloak" Moscow's "real intentions."

By offering to withdraw her troops, they said, Japan would compensate for loss of prestige the Russians would suffer by abandoning the attempt to retake Changkufeng by force of arms.

A conference on the crisis was held by Premier Fumimaro Konoye, Foreign Minister Kazushige Ugaki and Finance Minister Seihin Ikeda.

PATIENCE LIMITED

The Horinouchi-Smetanin interview here took place in a strained atmosphere. A War Office spokesman told the press "there is a limit to Japanese patience" and warned that unless Soviet attacks ceased the Japanese air force, until now grounded, would be ordered into action.

Horinouchi requested the Soviet charge d'affaires to inform Moscow of the terms immediately.

It was understood they were represented as terms which would be acceptable to both sides without loss of prestige.

The Foreign Office statement which announced the offer said in part:

"Although it is hard to foresee the attitude the Soviet will take to these proposals, all we can say is that whether these proposals, based on a broad view of the situation, will materialize will depend on the attitude of the Soviet government."

The issue which the peace-seeking move is designed to settle is the ownership of the region around Changkufeng Hill, which Soviet Russians began fortifying July 11.

The Soviet government claims the zone is within its territory. Japan says it is in Manchukuo.

Judge Orders Reporter Testify

R. Jackson, North Bay, Ont., Refusing to Give Source of Story

TORONTO (CP)—Richard Jackson, newspaper reporter of North Bay, Ont., and formerly of Edmonton, was ordered today by Mr. Justice W. D. Roach in Ontario weekly court to answer questions disclosing the source of information on which was based a story he wrote for the Edmonton Bulletin in 1935.

The order, second of the same nature made by an Ontario judge, stated Jackson was to appear August 18 before a North Bay examiner, who was not named, and answer the questions:

Gordon Watson, counsel for Henry Graves Curlett of Westlock, Alta., who moved for the order, did not press a move that the reporter be commited to jail for refusing to answer when he was examined some time ago under an order of Mr. Justice Nicol Jeffrey of the Ontario Supreme Court.

Watson said Jackson had told the first examiner he would be a "marked man" and branded squawker if he answered the questions.

Curlett, hotelkeeper and former mayor of Westlock, seeks the examination of Jackson in connection with his suit for $119,504.90 damages against certain insurance companies and individuals, including the general manager and local managers of the Fire Underwriers' Investigation and Loss Information Bureau.

WAS ACQUITTED

Curlett, whose hotel was destroyed by fire, claims the defendants threw suspicion on the origin of the fire and he was prosecuted on a charge of false pretenses after his insurance loss was adjusted at $19,250. He was "honorably acquitted" of the charge.

The hotel man seeks the source of a story published in the Edmonton Bulletin before his trial.

Jobless Stage Brief Sit-down

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—The British Columbia government has been asked to make arrangements to transport single unemployed through the Okanagan as the result of a sit-down strike 50 jobless staged on a Canadian National Railway barge here yesterday.

The men occupied the barge for four and a half hours and refused to move until some means of sending them from here to Penticton was provided.

After an emergency conference of city and railway officials, an agreement was made and the men were transported to Penticton in two large trucks. Cost of the transportation was provided by Captain C. R. Bull, Liberal member of the British Columbia legislature for South Okanagan.

Canadian National officials told the men they could not contravene Dominion steamship regulations by allowing the men transportation on the barges.

When the jobless were first told arrangements were made for their transportation and that they were to vacate the barge, the men replied they could not move without orders by their division captain, who was not present.

The jobless agreed to the arrangements after the second in command called a vote to ascertain if they were willing to move without the captain's orders.

A short time after the 50 men were on their way to Penticton another 50 arrived from Vernon.

ROYAL COUPLE AT ABERDEEN

King and Queen Land From Yacht at Scottish Port

ABERDEEN, Scotland (CP-Havas) — Huge crowds in Aberdeen harbor this afternoon roared an enthusiastic welcome to the King and Queen and Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret as they debarked from the royal yacht Victoria and Albert, ending a cruise from Great Yarmouth which began early yesterday.

The party left immediately for Balmoral Castle, where the royal family will spend several weeks.

As the Victoria and Albert dropped anchor about a mile off shore, the harbormaster sped out in a motorboat with a message expressing the city's congratulations and good wishes to the Queen, who was celebrating her 38th birthday.

It was only the second time in Aberdeen's history that a reigning sovereign had come by water. The previous occasion was in 1848, when Queen Victoria visited the city for the first time.

The King, as Prince Albert, landed here from H.M.S. Collingwood during the Great War to undergo an operation for appendicitis.

Migration To Canada Studied

QUEBEC (CP) — Brig-Gen. Sir Henry Page Croft, M.P., chairman of the British Empire Industries Association, arrived today in the liner Empress of Australia to start his tour of Canada "to hear what Canadians think of the chances of immigration."

A few weeks ago in the British House of Commons he sponsored a resolution which urged the Dominion Government's approval of reopening the whole question of immigration. Sir Henry will go almost immediately to British Columbia, where he was invited by the city council and board of trade of Prince George.

"I have always held that large-scale development is still possible," said Sir Henry," and I would like to see it carried out by a company or corporation, provided that company should be responsible for the employment or settlement of the migrant and that if the migrant failed to make good, he should be repatriated and not become a burden to the Canadian taxpayer."

Drive Made To Outflank Franco

HENDAYE, France (AP)—The Spanish government army stabbed at insurgent mountain defences west of Teruel today in an effort to roll up the extreme right flank of Gen. Franco's long eastern front.

Dispatches from Barcelona said Gen. Jose Miaja's veteran fighters captured Villar del Cobo, a communications centre on the Guadalaviar River linking three columns fighting in the Albarracin hills about 20 miles west of Teruel.

These reports, however, were disputed by the insurgents, who dismissed the government attacks as feeble, and announced they were routed by cavalry.

FLARE-UP AT MADRID

MADRID (AP)—Thousands of shells were exchanged before dawn today in heavy fighting in University City, nearest point of the insurgent siege line at Madrid.

The crackling of machine guns incessantly for three hours accompanied the heavy artillery and mortar fire. Roads and streets near the area were strewn with stray bullets.

CHARGE OF MURDER

WINGHAM, Ont., (CP)—A coroner's jury returned a verdict here yesterday that 10-month-old Mildred Magee came to her death by drowning July 27 "at the hands of her mother, Ruby Baird Magee." Mrs. Magee is held in jail at Goderich, Ont., on a charge of murder. The infant was drowned in a watering trough in the barnyard of the Magee farm home two miles from Wingham.

HOW TO OVERCOME ITCHING PILES
If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores—or any druggist—a package of Hemreid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hemreid is a physician's prescription, and is highly recommended. It is easy to use and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simply remedy, which is so pleasant to use may be had at such a reasonable cost.

Many Buyers Of Gold in London

LONDON (CP)—Opening of the London bullion market today found buyers still clamoring for gold. Since the rush for the metal began three days ago it is estimated purchases have exceeded £5,000,000 ($25,000,000), representing the heaviest transactions since the gold scare of June, 1937.

Today's opening quotation for the United States dollar was $4.89 for the pound sterling, but the rate quickly firmed to $4.88¾ under pressure of continental demand. Later the demand eased and the rate ranged between $4.89¾ and $4.89¾.

Gold held steady at 142s 0½d an ounce (about $34.76). Buyers absorbed £2,366,000 ($11,830,000) of the metal today.

CHANGES URGED AT HIGH SCHOOL

out some unified plan for the organization and teaching of his particular subject and develops among the teachers of that subject a knowledge of modern procedures through conferences with such teachers, there is little need for such a position. d. In addition to meetings of sections treating of individual subjects, there should be meetings of the whole staff at regular intervals to discuss general problems of a professional nature, such as testing, integration, unit plans. e. Notices to teachers or classes should be made available by means of daily mimeographed bulletins. f. The principal, vice-principal, and heads of departments should be given opportunity occasionally to visit large modern high schools.

GUIDANCE

4. The program in guidance has been delayed for a year as permitted in the new curriculum, but plans should be under way this year for inaugurating the guidance program. One or more members of the staff should be chosen this year to direct this work and, if they are not now equipped for such work, provision should be made for them to take courses in guidance and counseling next summer.

5. Techincal education should be given more prominence, and more students should be encouraged to select technical subjects as options; certain commercial subjects should be available to a larger number of the students taking a general course, and wider options should be offered the student body in music and art.

6. The school should develop into a composite high school, providing greater opportunities for the large numbers of students of varying abilities and interests.

7. The administration of a school such as Victoria High School is an important responsibility, and the successful functioning of the school depends largely on how well this is carried out. This responsibility rests mainly on the principal, and it is his duty to study and put into effect in his school those modern procedures advocated in the new curriculum. What has been said regarding summer courses and professional reading for the members of the staff applies in like manner to the principal. This reference to the need for better administration is particularly true if the recommendations suggested in this survey are to be carried out.

Suez Defence Treaty Revised

LONDON (CP)—An agreement was signed today making technical changes in the Anglo-Egyptian treaty of 1936 in relation of British barracks in the Suez Canal Zone. It was signed by Viscount Halifax, Foreign Secretary, and the Prime Minister of Egypt, Mohammed Mahmoud Pasha, who has been here for a fortnight.

The agreement must be ratified by the British and Egyptian parliaments. Its terms will be disclosed in a white paper before the session at Westminster reconvenes November 1.

In the original treaty Egypt agreed that although British military forces would be withdrawn eventually from Cairo and Alexandria, there would be permanent garrisons in the Suez Canal Zone. Egypt recognized it was to her interest that she receive adequate military protection in that area.

Czechs Regret Plane Trespass

Apologize For Fliers Who Crossed German Border

The official explanation for the incident yesterday, against which Germany had protested sharply, was that the fliers lost their bearings during exercises.

REICH PROTEST

BERLIN (AP)—The German government protested sharply today to Czechoslovakia against alleged violation of the frontier yesterday by two Czechoslovak airplanes.

It demanded punishment of the persons involved.

A DNB (German official news agency) report from Glatz, 12 miles from the German-Czechoslovak frontier, yesterday asserted two Czechoslovak airplanes had flown over Germany and observers photographed the town.

published reproductions of a map appended to the Soviet-Chinese agreement on June 26, 1886, as Soviet proof the disputed area lay within Siberian territory. They said the Japanese claimed Changkufeng Hill for the first time on July 15, when the Japanese government demanded the withdrawal of the Soviet soldiers).

AGGRESSION CHARGES

Heavy fighting broke out last Sunday, when the Japanese said they had seized the hill, and a new engagement was reported Thursday.

Both governments have protested, each charging aggression on the part of the other.

As to the latest Soviet protest, Domei (Japanese news agency) said Horinouchi had repudiated the accusations and replied by itemizing numerous allegedly illicit Soviet actions and declaring responsibility for the fighting, which began after repeated charges and counter-charges of border violations the past month in the Changkufeng Hill region, was entirely Russia's.

REPULSE REPORTED

The Russians sent four battalions against Changkufeng and Shachofeng Wednesday night, but lost 200 men when Japanese repelled them, a Japanese army communique announced Thursday, after "thousands of flares" had exposed their ranks in a thick fog.

The Soviet troops were said to have abandoned 15 tanks and 25 cannon. Their uniforms showed some of them to be members of the 118th Novokievsk infantry, reported to be a unit of the Far Eastern Red Army.

The Japanese War Office failed to estimate the number of Russian soldiers involved or the number of Japanese casualties, but said 250 tanks had been concentrated in the area.

MORE TROOPS SENT

MOSCOW (CP-Havas) — Additional Russian troops, with tanks and guns and cavalry supporting units, moved Thursday toward the scene of the Siberian frontier conflict to reinforce the units engaged against the Manchukuan troops there.

Tass (Russian news agency) announced the Far Eastern high command had been compelled to send in stronger reinforcements, in order to match the steadily increasing strength of the troops on the Manchukuan side.

Despite these moves, however, official quarters continued to express belief the conflict could remain localized.

OFFICERS BLAMED

Chief responsibility for the dispute was placed on the "delirium" of Japanese Kwantung (mainland) army officers, whose thirst for glory led them to strive for a personal victory at the expense of Soviet border guards."

The government's attitude of watchful waiting was reflected in the official press by the absence of comment on Far Eastern developments.

In contrast, other newspapers were filled with resolutions passed by factories, collective farms and army units, under the initiative of the Communist Party, pledging the population and fighting men of the union to defence of the fatherland.

One resolution warned: "Let the Japanese military clique and its accomplices in Rome and Berlin not forget that the red army will refuse to cede an inch of Soviet soil. The people of the U.S.S.R. are in a state of mobilization and will rise, arms in hand, at the first appeal issued by the party and government for defence of their beloved country."

Forest Fires Under Control

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia forest office said here today crews expected to control a blaze which broke out 15 miles north of Powell River early this week.

Other fires burning in the Vancouver forest district, which includes Vancouver Island, were reported under control, but weather conditions were not promising. The fire near Port Haney in the Fraser Valley was considered safe unless fanned into new life by a brisk wind.

Veterans Open B.C. Convention

Sir Percy Lake Prominent in Vancouver Ceremonies

VANCOUVER (CP) — Lieut.-Gen. Sir Percy Lake of Victoria, grand honorary president of the Canadian Legion, assisted by Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of National Defence, and Col. W. W. Foster, Dominion president, officially opened the 12th annual convention of the British Columbia command of the Canadian Legion here today. More than 500 delegates from all over the province were present.

In a colorful ceremony delegates paraded through city streets to the Cenotaph to pay tribute to comrades who died in the Great War. They were led by standard bearers and the City Police Pipe Band.

After the official opening Col. W. S. Buell, president of the British Columbia command and secretary Robert MacNichol made addresses of welcome.

There was an international note in the gathering as Clark Frazier of Cheney, Wash., state commander of American Legion, brought greetings from United States veterans.

QUEBEC STORM LEAVES 3 DEAD

Lightning Kills Two; Third Fatally Injured as House Blown Down

QUEBEC (CP)—Violent storms that cut a swath through eastern Quebec in the last 24 hours left three dead and an unknown number injured. A turbulent wind flattened houses and barns, whisked roofs away on the wings of the tempest and leveled trees. Damage mounted to more than $250,000.

The dead were Alfred Caron, 48, of St. Pierre de Montmagny; Antonio Dery, 50, St. Jean Deschaillons, and Alfred Beland, 50, St. Lambert de Levis. Caron and Beland were killed by lightning. Dery was injured fatally when his farm home was blown down by a violent wind during a storm raging over the Lotbiniere county town of St. Jean.

When a lightning bolt struck a carriage in which Caron was driving with his 13-year-old niece, Cecile Letourneau, he was killed instantly. The bolt wrecked the carriage, killed Caron's horse and threw the young girl to the ground seriously burned.

Beland was seated at home before a warm stove when lightning ripped a hole in the roof of the house and tore the iron stove from the floor. Neighbors found Beland's lifeless body stretched out near the smashed stove.

Communication lines were felled and highways blocked elsewhere in eastern Quebec district.

Girl on Trial For Setting Fire

OTTAWA — Trial of a 15-year-old Sudbury girl, inmate of the Convent of the Good Shepherd, razed by fire on July 22, opened here today. The girl is charged with having set the $100,000 blaze four days after the admission to the convent.

Evidence showed that on the morning of the blaze, which broke out in the dormitory, the girl had been left alone there. She had complained of a sore knee and was unable to attend mass at 8.30 a.m., Sister St. Joseph, matron of the institution, testified.

The matron was returning from the service when the girl, having succeeded in opening the locked door of the dormitory, told her the place was on fire. Sister St. Joseph ran to the dormitory, where she saw that one of the beds was on fire and the place filled with smoke.

Sister Mary St. Michael, mother superior, told the court the girl had been placed in the institution July 18 at the request of her parish priest and family.

War Birthday Is Remembered

London Papers Stress Present Dangers In Recalling Aug. 4, 1914

LONDON (AP) — With wars and war talks claiming the anxious attention of much of the world, London newspapers put unusual emphasis today on the 24th anniversary of Great Britain's declaration of war on Germany.

The Times, independent, in a review of the world situation, declared: "As year after year passes . . . international conditions do not grow less but rather more akin to those of the immediate pre-war period."

The London Daily Express, independent, linked the present danger of war with a current wave of hoarding of gold.

"Now, a quarter century after, the panic mongers of finance are still perpetuating the miserable fear that seized them at the outbreak of the war, fear for their worldly possessions," it said.

NO QUARTER GIVEN

The News-Chronicle, Liberal, commented: "A new world is closing in on contemporary youth. It is a restless, fascinating, swift-moving, frightening, formidable world which gives no quarter and may at any moment burn up millions of its youth in the fiercest conflagration of all time."

The Daily Herald, Labor, declared: "The young men and women of Great Britain are dangerously near coming to think of the war, and therefore any possible future war, as a great and glorious adventure.

"The rub is in the lessons of Guernica (Spain) of bombed hospitals, of little Spanish children disemboweled by airmen who remember daily their own dear sons and daughters in Italy and Germany."

"It was a bitter lesson we learned," said the Daily Sketch, independent, "and those of us who have any influence at all over the minds of youth would do well to see there is no self-deception about the glory and romance and glamour of carnage."

The Mirror, independent, asserted:

"What did they die for?

"Peace, we used to answer with the ring of pride in our voice for the heroes fallen in a great ideal.

"But how many of us can answer 'Peace' today to that question?

"The answer from the living is a shocked silence. But the answer from the dead, from all those millions of nameless graves, is 'nothing'."

Italy's Jew Move Is Defence Plan

ROME (AP)—Premier Mussolini's newspaper at Milan, Il Popolo d'Italia, explained today that a prohibition against Jewish foreign students in Italy was a "defence measure" necesitated by an influx of Jewish refugees from Germany and Danubian and Balkan countries.

The paper declared many such refugees came to Italy with tourist documents and insufficient funds with which to establish themselves in the country.

The government yesterday barred foreign Jews from Italian schools, a measure of limited scope since it does not affect Italian Jews.

The Milan newspaper asserted it had been necessary to dismiss Italian workers to make room for the refugees.

Italian Jews considered the decree significant, as the first practical step in line with the newly-announced Fascist doctrine that Jews "do not belong to the Italian race."

According to creditable sources, a comprehensive law governing the activities of Italian Jews is being formulated and the Fascist Grand Council is expected to act on it October 1.

One reliable informant said the prospective racial law probably would have these general objectives:

1. Elimination of Jews from the general staffs of the armed forces, from journalism, teaching and arts such as motion pictures, literature and painting, from political and economic positions connected with the state, from the Fascist Party and from Fascist syndicates.

2. Establishment of a ratio of Jews to Aryans in such professions as law, medicine and engineering.

3. Limitation of the number of Jews eligible to receive university degrees.

4. Supervision of Jewish economic activity in order to prevent large Jewish-controlled commercial or financial interests. Individual Jewish enterprise would not be restricted.

No Jury Hearing On Coogan Estate

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jackie Coogan, involved in a legal dispute with his stepfather and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bernstein, yesterday was denied a jury hearing of his demand for an accounting of the money he earned as a child star in motion pictures.

Superior Judge Reuben Schmidt ruled the suit was to determine a matter of law, not a question of fact, and that it therefore would be heard without a jury. The trial was set for November 14.

He was president of the Alberta Institute of Chartered Accountants in 1921, and 10 years later headed the Dominion association.

The position of the senior trade commissioner to Canada embraces also Newfoundland. Mr. Field has occupied the post for more than 10 years.

Old Kentucky CIGARETTES

U.S. Grain Crop $2,500,000,000

CHICAGO (AP)—The United States 1938 grain harvest of more than 4,500,000,000 bushels, one of the largest on record, was estimated today to have a market value of almost $2,500,000,000.

Analysts based this estimate on forecasts of six Chicago crop experts whose August summaries indicated total production of wheat, corn, oats and rye would amount to approximately 4,585,000,000 bushels.

With the exception of last year's production of these major grains, which totaled 4,715,000,000 bushels and had a market value of slightly more than $3,000,000,000, the 1938 harvest will be the greatest since 1932.

The valuation at market was based on Chicago prices for grain deliverable in the fall and winter.

Fascism Is Myth, Says Duplessis

QUEBEC (CP)—Fascism in Quebec province is a "danger which does not exist" and a "myth," Premier Duplessis said during a press conference yesterday. "There are so many questions and problems to settle that I have not even time to glance at dangers which do not exist," he said.

VANCOUVER (CP) — A memorial being erected in Hastings Park in honor of deceased members and to perpetuate the name of the 29th Battalion, Canadian Expeditionary Force, will be unveiled by Lieutenant-Governor Eric W. Gold Discovery In California

YREKA, Calif. (AP)—A gold discovery in the Siskiyou Mountains that might develop into one of the most important in this area in many years was reported here last night by Ray Farrell, a partner in a mining venture in southern Siskiyou County, southwest of Callahan.

Farrell said a number of high-grade specimens taken from a ledge were assayed and averaged $80,000 a ton.

He declared the ledge in a quartz stratum varied in size from four to 12 inches, and carried a gold content assay showed to average from $875 to $1,242 a ton.

The tunnel has been pushed 50 feet through the quartz to determine the size of the ore body.

AIR-CONDITIONING IS SAVING LIVES

BOSTON (AP)—A discovery that air-conditioning apparently eliminated 99 per cent of post-operative pneumonia was reported at Corey Hill Hospital yesterday.

Rigid control of humidity, keeping it low, at 30, compared with the 90 humidities which have been "scorching" the eastern United States this summer, appeared to be fully half the cause of improved vigor.

The lung trouble is one of the risks of surgical operations, for which no satisfactory preventive heretofore has been found. It happens after 6 to 7 per cent of operations, according to a survey made by the Massachusetts General Hospital.

But at Corey Hill, with air-conditioning, 743 operations in a year resulted in only one case of post-operative pneumonia. Recovery in that case was quick.

Drought Relief Grants Ended

EDMONTON (CP) — Federal relief grant of approximately $80,000 monthly for families in the drought area in southeastern Alberta terminated July 31, Hon. W. W. Cross, minister of health and relief, announced today.

Strong representations have been made to the Dominion authorities to continue the grant until August 31, or at least until August 15, Dr. Cross stated.

"Saskatchewan also is urging the period should be extended," said the minister.

The federal grant-in-aid of $125,000 a month to Alberta, out of which the province makes grants to Edmonton, Calgary and other cities, has not been disturbed, this being covered by a separate agreement.

FOOD AND CLOTHING

Under the drought area agreement, which became operative last September, the Dominion assumed full responsibility for material aid—food, fuel and clothing—for families in the dry area of Alberta.

The agreement, said Dr. Cross, expired last March 31, the end of the federal fiscal year, but was renewed for the months of April, May and June.

When Alberta was notified the agreement would expire June 30, representations to the Dominion resulted in it being extended for July, said the minister. Now representations were being made as to a further extension.

"The Dominion authorities say that on account of the good crops, these people in the drought area should be able to look after themselves," said the minister.

Dr. Cross said evidently the federal authorities believed merchants in the drought are would be prepared to give the people what credit they required until they had received the proceeds of marketing their crops.

DEBTS ON BOOKS

"The merchants are not keen to do this," he remarked. "Possibly many of them feel the debts owing to them are large enough as it is now."

Provincial authorities also point out that with the Dominion withdrawing from relief aid in the drought area, full responsibility would be placed on the province.

The federal relief cheque for June, amounting to $125,000, was received a few days ago.

"There has been no intimation from Ottawa that there will be any reduction in the amount of the July grant-in-aid cheque," said Dr. Cross.

Auto Curb Meters

VANCOUVER (CP)—Parking meters may be in operation here by the end of September, if Alderman Fred Crone, civic traffic chairman, is successful in a move to be sponsored at a meeting of the traffic commission.

He intends to ask the commission recommend to the city council that it call for tenders for between 1,000 and 1,500 meters.

Vancouver Gets Dominion Loan

VANCOUVER (CP)—The first loan under the new Municipal Improvements Assistance Act has been granted to the Greater Vancouver Water District, which will receive $750,000 under the scheme, established at the last session of Parliament.

This announcement marked the arrival here from eastern Canada last night of Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of National Defence, who will spend a month on the coast.

The minister said he had been advised by telegram the loan had been authorized by an order-in-council signed yesterday in Ottawa.

The Improvements Act assists municipalities establishing self-liquidating projects.

AIR MISSION

Mr. Mackenzie announced Sir Edward Ellingston, head of the British air mission now surveying the possibility of aircraft production in eastern Canada, was expected here about August 9 to examine British Columbia's manufacturing potentialities. If Sir Edward did not come some other member of the mission would, the minister said.

Another visitor to British Columbia this summer would be Prime Minister King, he added. He was "sure" the Premier was coming, although the date had not been set.

MILITIA TRAINING

Mr. Mackenzie remarked on the high calibre of men attracted to non-permanent militia training in recent months, and said about 50,000 men had enlisted throughout Canada in the past year, which he believed to be a record.

Canada would have no difficulty in obtaining recruits for her permanent army, he said, and mentioned there was a long waiting list of applicants for enrolment in the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Mr. Mackenzie announced the Canadian National hotel in Vancouver, to be known as the Hotel Vancouver and operated jointly by the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific railways, would be completed by next May with the expenditure of $3,000,000.

Among the group which welcomed the minister when he arrived here was Premier Hepburn of Ontario, who had returned a few hours before from a flying visit to Premier T. D. Pattullo of British Colmbia in Victoria.

Owner Killed When $75,000 Home Burns

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A neighbor's caretaker found the body of Russell H. Bayly, 39, socially prominent manufacturer, among the debris in the basement after a fire had razed a luxurious residence in the Highland Road district.

Bayly, apparently trapped in a bedroom by the blaze early yesterday morning, was plunged to the basement with a burning mass of timber and furniture when the fire gutted the interior of his $75,000 home.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ackerman, caretakers, leaped from a second story window, but were not injured.

The plant known as jack-in-the-pulpit is dioecious, meaning that it bears stamens on one plant, and pistils on another.

War Games To Be Britain's Biggest

LONDON (CP) — The Royal Air Force prepared today for the greatest home defence exercises of Great Britain's history.

More than 900 bombers and pursuit planes will take to the skies tomorrow morning in manoeuvres which will last 48 hours.

Almost 17,000 members of the Territorial Army anti-aircraft defence forces will guard the area lying between Humber on the north and Dover on the south. This is the largest area ever defended in such manoeuvres and it will be the first time the observation corps has been required to remain on duty for two full days.

The main exercise will see the old foe, "Eastland," attacking with 36 bomber squadrons a number of objects unknown to "Westland" defeners.

NO SMALL ACTIONS

Eastland forces must not concentrate their attack on a small area but raid generally to give work to a maximum number of defenders.

Facing the Eastland invaders will be 23 squadrons of fighting planes, including some new eight-gun "Hurricanes," which the Air Ministry believes are the type of weapon meeting its contention that "we must always have combat planes which are superior to contemporary bombers in both performance and hitting power."

A record of the attack and intervention will be possible at night through the use of colored lights. Photographs will be used by day.

GAS MASK TRAINING

LONDON (CP-Havas). — Operators in London's central telephone exchange are undergoing intensive training to work their switchboards during air raids and gas attacks, it was revealed yesterday. Two hundred and fifty operators of the 1,000 in the Faraday Telephone Building have learned to do their work with gas masks on.

Educational Survey

EDUCATIONISTS AND THE GENERAL public have been furnished with an exhaustive and instructive report of a survey of the mechanics of the educational system administered by the four civic entities of Greater Victoria. At the request of the Victoria City Council for such an inquiry, Hon. George M. Weir, provincial Minister of Education, appointed the school inspectors of Vancouver and North Vancouver to take charge of it. The document they have compiled was published in yesterday's issue of this newspaper and it should be carefully studied and digested by every taxpayer in this community. Not only is it especially valuable for what it discloses—the conditions to which the inquiring body addressed itself and discussed with commendable frankness—but also for the businesslike recommendations it makes, both in the interests of greater academic efficiency and more economic management generally.

One of the most important proposals is that the four sets of educational machinery now in operation be amalgamated, replaced by what would be known as the Greater Victoria School District, and administered by one School Board. The report of the survey sets out in detail how this reform could be brought about, what it thinks could be accomplished under such a system, and the benefits it suggests could be achieved. The implication is that a combined population of 65,000, as of the 1931 census, within a comparatively small radius could be more effectively and economically served by one completely up-to-date organization, centrally managed and controlled, than by four cumbersome bodies handicapped by conflicting views not only on detail but on fundamentals. There is little fear that this type of centralization would conflict with progressive initiative. The reverse is the case: It would mean in this instance the removal of the useless and superfluous and the creation of more modern administrative machinery that would be equally responsible and responsive.

We are told by the investigators that there is an indifference in the attitude among many teachers in the elementary schools toward progressive teaching. This is a serious indictment, one which demands immediate consideration and suitable action. It carries the plain implication that some of the men and women charged with the training of the citizens of tomorrow are attempting to apply the instruction they received in an earlier day to the requirements of 1938. The retort may be that the specifications of curricula are not sufficiently elastic to permit of any sort of improvisation to suit modern trends. Such a challenge, of course, can be met by the intelligent and adaptable mind. There is no set formula for the post-graduate course in modernization in any subject. Its requisites are capacity to absorb and ability to apply. That both are within the range of attainment of the average teacher ought to be taken for granted. The horse-and-buggy mentality is out of place in a gasoline schoolroom.

Another criticism contained in the survey is that the senior high schools are "too academic and dominated unduly with preparation for matriculation." This suggests that the student's natural aptitude for the essentially practical is often discouraged through the mistaken belief, for example, that an embryo genius in mechanics is a more telling advertisement for the classroom if he struggles to the top with his Latin or French or Greek than if he had had the opportunity to follow his bent. Again the retort may be that there are insufficient facilities at the disposal of this type of student to warrant diversion of his mind from the more orthodox curriculum. But in one part of the report is a proposal to remedy this deficiency—more technical literature and equipment.

It is only possible within the compass of this column to refer but briefly to the conclusions at which the able investigators have arrived. They speak for themselves. They are candid, easy to understand, capable of conversion into practical application, and, for that reason, should commend themselves to the four municipalities in whose interests the survey was undertaken.

Plenty of Time Yet

IT IS ELEVEN YEARS SINCE CALVIN Coolidge presented to the realm of United States politics his historic decision: "I do not choose to run for President in 1928." It was left to Herbert Hoover to carry the Republican banner to victory in that year—to bow before Franklin Delano Roosevelt in the November contest of 1932.

The "I-do-not-choose-to-run" pronouncement of August 2, 1927, is revived now because of the speculation on what President Roosevelt may or may not choose to do in 1940—the next presidential election year. If he has any idea of his plans himself, he is not letting anybody in on the secret. He is getting plenty of advice. His political foes, of course, are pooh-poohing the mere suggestion of a bid for a third term. Not only do they feel convinced in their own minds that he could not be elected; they also seem to be discussing the possibility as if it would be an affront to the intelligence of the electorate. Mr. Roosevelt's political friends, or, at least, Democrats as a whole, are not saying any more than sufficient to convey the impression by implication that opinion in their ranks is divided.

Running for a third term is just not considered the right thing to do. Theodore Roosevelt, who, as vice-president, became chief executive after the assassination of President McKinley early in 1901, won handsomely in 1904; but when he ran as a Progressive in 1912—Taft beating Bryan in 1908—he polled 88 of the 531 Electoral College votes against Woodrow Wilson's 435, Taft trailing with eight. The only difference between the position of the two vice-presidents who took the chief executive job as a result of the incumbent's death was that Coolidge "did not choose to run" for a third term, but Roosevelt did, after the lapse of one period. But this was judged by the electorate as a violation of an acknowledged custom. He lost.

Ardent supporters of the present President Roosevelt, however, are making much of the argument that the nation needs another term with Franklin Delano at its head. They contend that the far-reaching programs he has launched—drastic methods to cure drastic conditions—require his direction until they have been tested to the fullest possible extent. Meanwhile, the United States public, and the world at large, will have to adopt the Asquithian policy of "wait and see."

Rats and Matches

ADVICES FROM TOKIO TELL US THAT Japan has reached the point where the length of a matchstick and the skin of a rat represent an important factor in continuing her war—or "incident"—with China. Here is the item which recites an astounding program of retrenchment:

"Chemists in the ministry of agriculture are trying to work out a process to tan rat skins as a leather substitute. The government has asked match-manufacturers to reduce the length of the stick by .029 inch.

"Shortening of the Japanese matchstick, it is estimated, would save 1,000,000 yen ($290,000) a year—enough to keep the army going in China, at current spending rates, for about one hour and five minutes."

If the foregoing is to be taken as another indication of Japan's economic stress when her imports of raw materials are not compelled to run any sort of blockade, to what straits will she be reduced if her present "misunderstanding" with mighty Soviet Russia should develop into conflict on a major scale?

Increasing Life Expectancy

SAFETY COUNCILS HAVE DONE ALmost spectacular work in stemming the tide of traffic deaths and injuries, principally by pressing aggressive programs of education among motorists and school children.

But now it turns out that there is a "forgotten man" in the traffic safety campaign, according to one of the Safety Council's publications. He is the man on foot, the adult pedestrian, and his case has been sadly neglected. A move to establish advisory clinics for his benefit is now afoot. That a need exists for some such clinics appears from the traffic figures of 13 large cities. Pedestrian deaths, the figures disclose, compose 75 per cent of the total accident fatalities in those communities.

In the meantime, any pedestrian with an ounce of sense can increase his life expectancy by himself, simply by remembering such simple rules as: Don't cross intersections diagonally; don't try to beat the crossing light to the draw at the last minute; don't trust to the driver's consideration; don't try to look at two pretty girls at the same time from the middle of the street.

The German consul in Manila has protested the naming of a horse "Hitler." What is the matter, was its grandfather a non-Aryan?

The exchange of speeches when Russia's new Ambassador to Germany presented his credentials to Hitler was utterly devoid of the customary expressions of burning affection and mutual devotion. There was almost a touch of chill in the air. The whole thing was completely lacking in sentimentality. The two did not even kiss. Things are coming to a pretty pass. Before we know it these modern diplomats will not even be bothering with touching gloves first; they won't even be waiting for the bell.

ANGLO-FRENCH PARALLELS

From New York Post

On April 2, 1914, George V paid a visit of state to Paris.

Had the King and his Foreign Secretary, Lord Grey, made clear at that time that Britain would stand by France, the World War might not have occurred. The assassination of the Archduke two months later would hardly have been followed by Germany's attack on France. The Kaiser struck because he felt sure that England would not fight.

George VI, in his recent visit to Paris, stressed the "joint responsibility" of France and England in defence of democratic institutions, dropped the clear hint that Britain would support France in the event of war with Germany.

For months Hitler has been treating Britain as though it were an indigent friend, but his reaction to the clear warning of the visit to Paris is to send a special envoy to London to offer a peaceful settlement of the Czech problem.

If France stands by the Czechs and Britain stands by the French, the Czech problem will have to be solved peacefully—or not at all. Because the Germans cannot afford the long war a line-up of this kind would entail. So Hitler changes his tune, speaks softly.

We hope the moral isn't lost on the British Foreign Office.

Queen Mary's Line-up Day

From a Traveling Correspondent ON THE QUEEN MARY.

THIS IS THE LAST DAY of the Atlantic crossing and the customers are in considerable of a dither. Because it's line-up day and the 600 passengers in third are afflicted with aching feet and short tempers.

You line up before the Midland Bank Branch to swap Canadian or American bills for pounds, shillings and pence. You line up in a terrifically long and sinuous line to have your passports checked and get your shore tickets. You line up to arrange ship and rail transportation to continental ports. You line up for this and for that, and when there are no lines you line up waiting for a line.

GETTING A BAD BREAK

I HAVE BECOME quite an expert line joiner. In fact, I have a technique which, however, is not infallible.

For example, an hour or so ago I saw a very nice line standing on the stairs between A and B decks. It was a long line, so I walked to a gentleman standing near the front and said:

"Sir, on C deck there is a most fascinating line just forming. I understand it is for the purpose of handing each passenger disembarking at Southampton a ticket entitling him to a quart of Guiness stout and a paper of fish and flakes. You'd better hurry."

"I will," cried the gentleman, and he leaped away with alacrity, and I popped into his place.

Whene I got to the wicker window I discovered that this line was intended for passengers going to Leningrad via the Baltic Sea. And as I am not going to Leningrad my score for that particular line was zero. So I wandered away, feeling very low in the mind, and joined another line which was waiting in line to see what the devil they were waiting for in line.

Some time later the gentleman whose place I had taken in the line for passengers destined for Leningrad confronted me. He was a bit red in the face and spoke with more vehemence than is good for a man of his years.

"Sir," he barked, "I believe you deliberately misinformed me. The line on C deck was not for receiving tickets entitling them to a quart of Guiness stout and a paper of fish and flakes. I'll have you know——"

"One moment," I replied coldly. "You misunderstood me. I did not say fish and flakes. I distinctly said flakes and fish."

I left him there, scratching his head, and walked away quickly, for I have little patience with people of slow wit and suspicious natures. Then I joined another line which I hoped would be a line walking the gangplank, and thus a line to end all lines.

SAVING THE SHIP

MY LOW SPIRITS on this day are modified a bit by a beautiful memory of yesterday. For yesterday I saved the Queen Mary and its 2,000 passengers from sinking 700 miles off Southampton.

This is the story of my heroism, and it is true. I was playing shuffleboard on the top deck against a passenger named Irwin Shapiro. Now I happen to like this man Shapiro, but he plays an abominable game of shuffleboard, while I play with a certain verve and brilliance which come from a long apprenticeship at sweeping barroom floors.

This shuffleboard court on the top deck is right under the bridge, where the captain and his aides manouevre and steer the boat. And yesterday the ship slid through a thick fog while Shapiro and I were duelling. I had just made a particularly masterful play, landing three discs in the "10 off" square, when the deck steward approached.

"Pardon me, sir," he said, "but the captain requests that you refrain from playing while we are in a fog. He says you are distracting his attention from steering the ship."

Reluctantly I handed over my stick. And just when I had landed another brilliant shot in the "10 off" and was leading the wretched Shapiro by a thumping score of minus 49 to minus 48. But then I saved the ship, and the sacrifice was worth it.

IN CASE YOU DON'T KNOW

Unlike most species of animals, the beavers not only tolerate their family members when they get too old to work, but even take special care of them and see that they enjoy a pleasant old age. Most other animal tribes either eat their feeble oldsters or cast them out on their own resources. . . . Step up: Way back in 4236 B.C. the Egyptians ceased counting 360 days to a year and increased the count to 365. . . . While tobacco leaves are maturing in sheds, they lose almost 80 per cent of their weight, which is mostly water. . . . At the height of its glory, ancient Rome had 850 public baths, some of them accommodating a couple of thousand bathers a day.

SHAWNIGAN LAKE

I have been staying at your lovely Lake Shawnigan and felt I must write some appreciation of its beauty, before I return to my American home:

Shawnigan, fair Shawnigan,
Lake of my dreams,
Fed from the mountains
By swift-running streams.
Fisherman's paradise,
Swimmer's delight,
Lying so peaceful
In softest moonlight.

Shawnigan, green Shawnigan,
Forests of pine
March down to your borders
In grandeur sublime.
Deer shyly come to your waters to drink,
Parting so softly
The ferns at your brink.

Children's sweet laughter
Echo back from the hill,
The lily cups dream
On your waters so still.
All of your charms, I cannot unfold,
Happy the mortal your beauties behold.

Humming Birds

K.M.H. in Winnipeg Free Press

BITS OF FLOWERING sky, the delphiniums sway at the porch windows, their tapping but a faint brush in the sun-soaked silence. The Ragged Robins do not grow so tall but hold their red heads sturdily and try not to care as the delphiniums reach their blue lengths above them. But the Ragged Robins know that the delphiniums have more than their grace and height. There is a listening something as they sway, a knowledge of more than the first kiss of the sun and the kinship of the sky. Thus it was the day that the humming birds arrived. No swish or beating of wings. No faint humming, a mist of wings, an iridescent flash and this three inches of feathered energy darted back and forth and from side to side. So swiftly did it move that it almost seemed as though all movements were one. But the Ragged Robins burned their torches in vain. One dart, and the long beak was lost in the delphinium bell.

"Humming birds," observed The Authority, "as collectors are good. Thye not only have provided themselves with those long bills but their tongues reach all the way and curve inward at the sides, forming a sort of double tube. Thus they drink to themselves long draughts of nectar."

"Looks to us," said we, "as though they feared an early closing."

Hither and yon they darted, feet tucked back, among the delphiniums, drinking, drinking, drinking.

The sun glinted on their smooth green, shining backs and picked out bits of red at the throat.

"Those are the lady hummers," said The Authority. "The gentlemen have full ruby cravats."

"How is it," asked we, "that they aren't here when the drinks are being served? Have they signed a pledge or something?"

"It is just one of those things," answered The Authority. "No one knows where the male humming birds disappears to. There are at least as many of him around in the spring, but shortly after housekeeping is set up he is about no more. Some think when family cares begin to press on him, he just beats it for the open road and back to his old home in the south."

We studied the two hummers among the delphiniums. If ever we saw concentrated purpose it was those darting bits of feathers and bill. "It looks to us," said we, "as though the mates better take to cover when the ladies migrate, that is if they take the desertion seriously. Of course they may be of a mind with those lady insects who take drastic measures when they feel their gentleman friends have been around long enough. Perhaps the male hummers are better at taking a hint."

"Perhaps," conceded The Authority, "about all the genus home knows about them is their beauty, their aviatorial powers, their destruction of small insects—probably drunk down with the flower honey — and the architectural wonder of their nests."

The delphiniums were erect now for the tiny birds had flown. We saw one dart with rocket swiftness to the tall maple tree.

"Perhaps we may find the nest," hoped The Authority, "a fairy thing it is, of bits of lichen held together with cobwebs hardly of the earth it seems perched on its branch. Quite safe though, the nest and its burden, for all its seeming fragility. The bigger birds respect these tiny relations of theirs. They know their amazing rapidity of motion and the fierceness of attack with needle bills striking at the marauders' eyes."

"The stories of the Spanish conquest of Mexico," recalled we, "tell of the finding of pictures woven by the artists from the skins of humming birds, the brilliancy of the feathers working out the artists' dreams."

The delphinium shivered a little, then glinted blue. The humming bird was back drinking, drinking, drinking.

HAPPY ST. THOMAS

St. Thomas Times-Journal

The Census Bureau figures also show that St. Thomas has an all-age, all-occupation high average wage of $1,323 for males for the province and is far ahead of most other Ontario cities of its size in this respect. The average in other cities is as follows: Toronto, $1,227; Hamilton, $1,022; Ottawa, $1,376; Windsor, $1,055; London, $1,201; Kitchener, $961; Brantford, $895; Fort William, $990; St. Catherines, $1,076; Oshawa, $869. But for high average incomes in the Dominion, the wealthy suburbs of Montreal took the lead, $2,998 for men in Westmount and $1,967 in Outremont.

HOW DO I GET WORK?

To the Editor:—No doubt you will think that I should know how to get work but, as I do not belong to any union and have not any special trade, nobody seems to want to give me a chance at a job.

If somebody would only give me a chance, I would do my best to give satisfaction. I have had eight and a half years' experience as a grocery clerk and have handled cars and trucks for the last nine years, besides having some experience in rough carpentry work (foundations, basement floors, and sidewalks), painting, interior and exterior, and shingling, etc.

Thousands Line Streets to Watch Parade

The Boy Scouts of Port Angeles lent an international touch to the procession.

The smart marine band of H.M.S. York won much applause as it marched at the head of the parade with the bluejackets following on.

A mass of sweet peas and baby's breath were blended in the lovely float of the City of Victoria. Pretty little girls, in blue poke bonnets, sat among the flowers.

Winsome Japanese maidens, in native dress, walked behind the float entered by the Japanese community. They carried fans and along the route performed their native dances.

Beautiful Floats And Marching Men Arouse Admiration

Feature Event of Celebrations Ranks Among Best Ever Held in City

Oriental Entries Win Much Praise

Thousands of Victorians and visitors crowded a three-mile route along city streets yesterday afternoon to witness the second annual August parade staged by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Perfect weather graced the occasion and the parade, while smaller than last year, was up to the same high standard. The sponsors are to be congratulated on their enterprise in providing such a colorful spectacle.

The procession took half an hour to pass a given point, and the crowds waited patiently for its arrival. All office windows and roofs of buildings along the route held their quota of spectators. Old people brought out camp stools and sat in the shade. Applause rang out as the various floats passed; everyone thrilled to the martial music of the bands, the smartly marching sailors and soldiers and the charming, smiling queens in their royal regalia; roars of laughter rewarded the entrants in the comic sections.

ARMY AND NAVY

Uniformed columns of the permanent forces, headed by the Royal Marine band of H.M.S. York followed immediately behind the parade marshal. Keeping step to the strains of the bandsmen came sailors from the York, a group of marines in their pith helmets and the Canadian naval band, followed by armed sailors from the Esquimalt Barracks and H.M.C.S. Fraser and H.M.C.S. St. Laurent. Completing the section was a platoon of Princess Patricia's Light Infantry, led by the drum and bugle corps of the Fifth B.C. Coast Brigade.

Canadian Scottish, in their gay red tunics and tartans, marched smartly to the skirl of the regiment's pipe band. The R.C.A.S.C. was represented by a shining ambulance with complete equipment.

Queen Lorraine, pretty monarch of Port Townsend's Rhododendron Festival, rode alone in state in a black touring car, immediately preceding the gold, blue and green-draped car bearing the representatives of the Seattle potlatch committee, a car used by President Roosevelt on his ceremonial visits to the Northwest.

The St. John Ambulance Brigade made their appearance in their recently-acquired black uniforms, piped with white, as they marched in the procession bearing a stretcher and first aid equipment.

The Canadian Scottish brass band, tunics flashing a bright splash of color above the swaying kilts, added their customary gala touch to the procession as it swung along.

MAYOR AND ALDERMEN

Mayor Andrew McGavin and Alderman W. H. Davies, celebration committee chairman, doffed their silk toppers to thousands as they headed a group of touring cars bearing city aldermen and visiting guests of honor through the streets.

Heralds in white satin with blue and scarlet cloaks announced the coming of Miss Kay White, "Miss Victoria, 1938," in her old Victorian carriage drawn by four white chargers. Driven by a coachman in hunting costume of scarlet and white, the stately carriage carried her celebratory highness proudly along the route, with attendant pages seated on the raised section behind her. In another special coach came her maids of honor, Doreen McGregor and Jean Wilson, regally garbed in satins. Both carriages were lavishly decorated in royal purple and gold.

In all their eastern splendor the Gizeh Temple Shrine Band, led by a musician playing a portable xylophone, gained popular acclaim, the merit of their music matching the color of their green, gold and scarlet costumes.

CITY OF VICTORIA FLOAT

In one of the most-delicately executed and attractively designed floats that has ever been seen here, the City of Victoria showed a wealth of magnificent flowers with dainty little maidens in quaint poke bonnets of blue and silver and beautiful costumes. On a base of deep green, decorated with pastel sweet peas and cloud-like gypsophila, the tiny young ladies sat demurely on a series of deep green stairs leading to a narrow platform over which a Louis Quatorze lady in powder blue satin and powdered wig presided.

The Vancouver Island Dairymen's Association matched beauty with a descriptive motif in their float, a flower-garlanded entry with an old-fashioned maiden working a floral chrun, while dainty girls rested behind her under a rich canopy of blooms.

ORIENTAL ENTRIES

The Chinese and Japanese floats, provided by the enterprise and public spiritedness of members of both communities, added gay splashes of lovely color to the parade.

The Chinese Benevolent Society's float was bright with flowers and a brilliant red bridge, designed from an ancient one in China. It boasted red and gold tapestries, heavily embroidered, and the pretty Chinese girls, in their picturesque headgear and magnificent slit-at-the-knee robes of silk, finished the picture.

Blue porcelain figures of the old holy dragons of China featured the float of Wing Sang Lung and Company. The girls, in their silk gowns, carried palest blue feather fans, over which they smiled at the aplauding throngs.

The Togo Cleaners entered a float which carried dwarf shrubs, a torii (sacred bridge), a tiny rock garden, with pebble path and stone lanterns and cherry trees in full bloom, the delicate pink petals trembling in the breeze.

Six thousand gladioli blooms were used to make the float of the Firemen's Mutual Benefit Association one of rare and unusual beauty.

Feminine loveliness predominated on the beautiful and artistic float of the Victoria Women's Institute.

Members of the Chinese community put their prettiest girls, attired in rich Oriental robes, on their float.

A group of comedians made plenty of fun as they rode along on the truck of Cyclonic Fire Department.

The girls' drill team of the Junior Chamber of Commerce marched in red, white and blue silk costumes ahead of the coach-and-four which carried "Miss Victoria."

$2,000 Ore Starts Nevada Gold Rush

TONOPAH Nev.—Discovery of high-grade ore running up to $2,000 a ton in value on new claims has precipitated a gold rush to Cimarron District, 29 miles north of here, opening up a new field destined, perhaps, to create a boom camp equal to the old days of the roaring west.

Since E. M. Booth, soldier of fortune, made the rich strike last month between 500 and 600 claims have been staked out over a mineral range four miles long.

The range is part of the geological upheaval which made Tonopah and Goldfield such fantastically rich gold camps.

Surface showings of the new strike are so phenomenal that ore with values up to $2,000 a ton is being encountered 20 feet below the surface of a 7,500-foot peak. Shrewd and conservative mining men here predict that the strike could easily surpass Goldfield and Tonopah, both teeming mining camps in their heyday, producing some $500,000,000 in gold together.

Nevada has not had a strike in more than a decade that has created so much excitement as have values uncovered in the Cimarron District.

Less than a month ago 12 of the 16 claims staked out by Prospector Booth and his wife were purchased by Pacific Butte Mines Company for $185,000, in addition to other considerations, bringing to him the realization of a lifetime dream to strike it rich.

The company, headed by Fred Vollmar, veteran Silver Peak mine operator, now is driving a 500-foot cross-cut tunnel through the center of the rich claims which cover an area of approximately one mile square. This tunnel is now over 75 feet long. Booth panned a wide section of the mineral range and believes that he staked the heart of the district which he named Cimarron.

The cross-cut is being driven into the mountain 200 feet below the high-grade strike, much of which is free gold, and within a few feet of where Mrs. Booth struck a vein that assayed $168 a ton.

From surface showings, Booth has concluded that the cross-cut will tap five veins, and possibly two more which he suspects exist.

The purpose of this tunnel is to determine the width and depth to which the veins go into the earth. Should the cross-cut verify surface showings officials plan immediate construction of a mill capable of handling 2,000 tons of ore daily, making it the largest gold operation in the state.

Charley Taylor of Tonopah, who retired years ago after making a fortune in Goldfield, declared that Cimarron has better showings than either Tonopah or Goldfield at the start. He said Cimarron might easily surpass the other two fields. Tonopah produced at least $270,000,000 in gold and silver, and Goldfield yielded $155,000,000.

Twisting roads to the diggings are now being scraped and graded so that mining equipment may be brought in. A tri-weekly air service is being started between Los Angeles and Tonopah to carry interested mining operators. Five tons of mine rails, large air pipe, ties and lumber have already been carried into the region from Tonopah, indicating that extensive work is under way.

the Japanese community walked a score of tiny maidens in native kimonos and thickly-padded slippers. They carried fans and wore flowers in their hair. As they moved along they performed their native dances to music carried on the community's float, which was topped by a painting of Fujiyama.

FROM SHAWNIGAN

The briefest of Cellophane costumes were worn by the suntanned girls who lent animated decoration to the float entered by the Shawnigan Lake people. Their dresses were of all colors, from sombre black to flamboyant reds and orange. Balloons gave a further note of gaiety.

Tall girls in dainty white ballet dresses, some with silver wings and bandeaux of gold in their hair, rode on the floral float of the Victoria Women's Institute. Wisteria, in lovely shades of mauve, and great baskets of flowers were used in the general motif, which was highly artistic.

"Miss Victoria and Mayor Stewart of 1915" caused ripples of amusement as they rode along in a car of ancient vintage, she acknowledging the cheers, wearing a white gown and a large straw hat with blue feathers.

A pair of newlyweds, with the traditional sign "just married," looked properly embarrassed as they passed in a Hillman car, followed by a Humber Snipe.

Dog lovers got a thrill when they glimpsed the car entered by the Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers' Association.

The Island Motorist, with colored paper streamer from windshield to radiator, was in the motor car section.

DECORATED CARS

Masses of flowers, colored paper and streamers were used in decoration of the three private cars in the decorated automobile section. This is always one of the most attractive features of a parade. Only three cars, however, were entered, compared with more than a dozen in the parades of olden days.

The band of the Fifth Regiment played airs along the route.

Miss Phyllis Addison, runner-up in the recent "Miss Victoria" contest, sat atop a Blue Line coach on a throne of white and red gladioli and smilingly waved to her admirers. The coach was finished in white paper.

The Victoria Firemen's Mutual Benefit Society, outstanding entry in last year's parade, again scored a signal triumph with its floral streamlined ladder truck. Completely covered with multi-colored gladioli blooms of exquisite hue, the long truck drew unstinted applause as it passed along, following the fire chief's car, in which rode the city fire wardens. The float itself was a perfect picture in admirably arranged blossoms, with the initials of the society picked out in flowers on its side.

PORT ANGELES SCOUTS

A sturdy group of Port Angeles Boy Scouts with their drum and bugle band added to the international flavor of the spectacle, with their standard bearers carrying Canadian and United States flags as well as the Port Angeles emblem.

The Shawnigan Lake Lumber Company found a most attractive method of presenting its product. A little garden, complete in minute detail with flower borders, walks, a natural lawn and tennis court provided a setting for the frame construction of a house on a broad base decorated with cedar boughs and flowers.

Buckerfields entered a neat display of stacked wheat sheaves and sacks of flour in geometrical precision.

LEGION BAND

The Canadian Legion band, swinging along merrily, provided music for the middle section of the parade, just ahead of an exceptionally attractive display shown by the Baldwin Nurseries. The latter, with a base of silvered greenery and flowers of different types, showed beautifully shaded begonias, stately gladioli and potted plants, including geraniums. As a back set the float had a fan-like spread of greenery mixed with tapering sprays of cultivated broom.

Southall's Stove Works was represented by a truck bearing gleaming new sawdust burner equipment.

The pipe band of the Second Battalion, Canadian Scottish, provided a fine introduction for one of the few extremely humorous entries, the Highland Cavalry as depicted by Stanley James and his human horse. In the same class was a self-mounted "Wandering Cowboy," giving a display of rope work as he carried himself along the route.

Once again the Cyclonic Fire Department, reappearing by popular request, roared down the roads, scattering mirth and terror in its wild career, with bells jangling and siren screaming as it dragged behind it a fire-trap shack. Aboard hilarious comic firemen perfomed their duties, taking time out to sprinkle the crowd as the afternoon sun grew warm.

BOYS' BAND

In the latter section of the parade the members of Rowles' Boys' Band struck up lively tunes to assist the marchers.

McGill & Orme Ltd. carried the badge of their business, a giant pestle and mortar above their smart delivery coupe.

Dowell's Transfer, representing "Twenty Years of Progress," showed two trucks, a battered but sturdy old-timer which was the pride of their business in 1918 and the ultra-modern giant cartage van which they have recently acquired.

Drawing up the rear of the procession came the smartly garbed representatives of the Victoria Riding Academy and the Victoria Riding Club, one group in white riding breeches, red tunics and pillbox hats and the other in white costumes with blue berets.

The band of the Rainbow Sea Cadet completed the parade, playing smartly - its members marched.

Colwood Nine Wins Softball

Scoring six runs in the fifth inning, Colwood Wood defeated the Young Citizens League 10 to 4 last night at Central Park in the B division softball playoffs. One more victory will give Colwood the championship and the right to represent the lower island in the island playoffs.

In a women's game the Cardinals defeated Saanichton 19 to 12 to retain their undefeated record and complete their schedule.

Peden Cup knockout games resulted as follows:

Hollywood Club 11, Victoria Brass and Iron 10.

Spencers 3, Motor House 10.

Victoria Aces Make Final Bid For Aquatic Honors at Kelowna Today

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—British Columbia's premier aquatic stars from all parts of the province poised themselves today for a new assault on swimming titles in the final day of Kelowna's thirty-second annual regatta.

Yesterday on Okanagan Lake Vancouver stars took seven first places, four seconds and four thirds—major share of events in the first day of the meet.

Victoria swimmers captured one first, three second places and two thirds, but promised stronger competition today.

Little Lynda Adams, darling of Canada's Empire Games team, won the Canadian diving championship (five metre standing) in handy fashion over two teammates, Violet Mellish and Jean McLeod, who placed second and third respectively.

The other championship event—the British Columbia junior girls' half-mile for the Wrigley Trophy—went to Ethel Symes of Vancouver, who nosed out Joan Langdon in a stirring stretch finish.

Alice Wilkinson of Kelowna, one of the Okanagan's young stars, placed third. She also took second place in the 50 yards freestyle for junior girls of the interior, an event won by Dot Smith of Kelowna.

Vancouver swimmers won both medley relays, the men's 300 yard and the women's 150 yards. Kelowna was second in both, with Victoria third in the girls' relay.

Alice Thompson scored Kelowna's only first in the open swim events, winning the 100-yard freestyle with Hazel Smith of Victoria second and Dot Andison of Kelowna third.

Terry Macaulay, V.A.S.C. swim star, took two first places, the 100 yards backstroke and the 25 yards butterfly. He also was a member of the Vancouver trio which won the medley relay.

$65,000 FOR FOOTBALLER

LONDON (CP)—Bryn Jones, Welsh international inside forward of Wolverhampton Wanderers, today was sold to Arsenal for a world record price for a soccer player.

It is understood Arsenal, a London club, paid £13,000 ($65,000.) The previous record was £10,890 ($54,450) paid by Arsenal to Bolton Wanderers in 1928 for David Jack.

Small Montana Makes Comeback

NEW YORK (AP) — Small Montana, the Filipino who once held the world flyweight title, is well on the way to recovering the crown.

Weighing 111½ Montana easily outpointed Katsumi Morioka, the Japanese from Vancouver, B.C., at Queensboro Arena last night. Morioka weighed 109¼. Montana, winner of the first bout to decide a new flyweight champion to replace Scotland's Benny Lynch, probably will meet Little Dado, a fellow countryman, next.

You'll go farther at No Extra Cost!

● This week—next week—every week—all through the year—more people will ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!

Why? Because Goodyear builds longest mileage into tires. When it's journey's end for ordinary tires Goodyears start delivering those extra miles of service that mean dollars in your pocketbook.

Here is why!

Look at those husky, keen-edged diamonds in the tread—the secret of Goodyear's four-way traction—they grip in any weather. Because they hold harder, they start easily—stop promptly. That means slow, even wear.

And that's not all! Look at the broad, thick Goodyear tread. See how those big, heavy, load-sharing shoulders come into greater contact with the road—reducing wear. Those are outside features that you can see for yourself. There's an inside story, too! The story of Goodyear's exclusive Super-twist cord construction—the most resilient, springy cords known. They easily absorb severe "road-shocks" that would cause ordinary tires to blow out.

Because Goodyears are built to provide every known safety factor, you get a tougher, longer-lasting tire—a tire built to provide many extra miles of safe, sure service. That's why Goodyear mileages are record mileages. And remember—Goodyears cost no more than standard tires!

GOODYEARS ARE FIRST CHOICE TIRES . . . CHOOSE THEM FOR YOUR NEW CAR

THERE ARE THIRTY-FOUR DIFFERENT GOODYEAR TIRES!

You get extra value in Goodyear's heavy duty tires. They provide 50% greater body thickness at only 25% higher cost than standard tires. Both Goodyear's famous "G-3" (illustrated) and the lower priced "R-1" are made in heavy duty 6-ply, as well as standard 4-ply. N6

GOODYEAR LIFEGUARDS

A sensational new fabric "inner tire" within a tube—that makes the severest blowout as harmless as a slow leak. You can't buy better insurance against accidents—to save your life!

Bequests Left To Home For Aged Women

Late Miss A. E. Wynne Left $250; More Rooms Needed

At the monthly meeting of the committee of the Aged Women's Home yesterday afternoon, grateful acknowledgement was made of a bequest of $250 from the estate of the late Miss A. E. Wynne, also an instalment from the Hulda Kosche estate from the Royal Trust Company. These are being placed in a fund to enable the committee to continue the good work now being carried on.

The secretary reported that two vacancies had occurred during July, but were quickly filled, and two applicants are still on the waiting list, awaiting vacancies, which makes the committee all the more anxious to finish off the lower floor if funds were only available.

Mrs. W. L. Clay, the president, was in the chair, and members present included Mesdames W. Grant, E. Heddle, E. Bean, D. Scott, A. D. Whittier and Miss E. O'Brien.

The ordinary routine business was attended to and all accounts ordered paid. The committee for the month is Mrs. Clay, convener, Mrs. D. C. Sabiston and Mrs. D. Scott.

Cathedral Fete Nets $350 For Guild

Bishop's Close Party Drew Many Patrons Yesterday

The tree-shaded lawns of Bishop's Close provided a delightful setting for the many attractions arranged at the garden party held under the auspices of the Women's Parish Guild of Christ Church Cathedral yesterday afternoon. A large throng of parishioners and out-of-town visitors patronized the affair, which netted the handsome sum of nearly $350 for the Guild's funds.

Mrs. G. H. Bissell, president of the Guild, welcomed the guests and introduced Very Rev. Spencer H. Elliott, Dean of Columbia, who in opening the fete spoke in warm terms of the invaluable support given by the Guild to the Cathedral. A fragrant corsage bouquet was presented to Mrs. Elliott and also to Miss Violet Fowkes, whose pupils presented a program of charming ensemble and solo numbers in flower-like costumes.

A thriving business was carried on at the attractive stalls. Fancywork was in charge of the Junior Women's Parish Guild; home cooking, Mrs. J. W. Speck, Miss L. George and Mrs. Oldham; candy, Mrs. P. Hardiman, Mrs. Spikesley and Mrs. Dixon; lavender and flowers, Miss Lettice and Mrs. Caldwell; spinning jenny, the Misses Beryl and Maisie Speck, and ice cream, Mrs. C. Wrigleswortb, Mrs. J. Chrow and Mrs. Watson.

Tea was served in the gymnasium of the Memorial Hall under the chairmanship of Mrs. J. W. Robinson, Mrs. T. Lewis, Mrs. D. G. Robinson and Mrs. E. Rogers, assisted by members of the A.Y.P.A. and Junior Guild members. Mrs. W. Finmore did a thriving business with her "mile of pennies." Mrs. Richardson sold the tea tickets, and Mrs. W. A. Galliher looked after the gate receipts.

Music for the dances was provided by means of an orthophonic, kindly loaned by the Kent Piano Company.

ODDS AND ENDS SKILFULLY USED

HALIFAX (CP)—A woman's skill with a hairpin is proverbial, but you ought to see what they can do with a few odds and ends of wool, a few tin cans and some discarded burlap bags.

The most attended section of the handicraft show at the Women's Institutes of Nova Scotia silver jubilee convention was the thrift division. There were shirts for father, made from flour bags; suits for baby, made from a discarded paternal sweater. Junior's trousers might have been anything from a cut-down dinner jacket to a well-trodden doormat, while attractive and useful footstools were made from old tin cans.

Queen Given Birthday Gifts

King and Princesses Honor Her Majesty Aboard Royal Yacht

LONDON (AP) — Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret scurried along the corridors aboard the royal yacht Victoria and Albert today to the suite of their mother, Queen Elizabeth, with gifts for her 38th birthday.

They had hidden the packages in their nursery cabin since the start of the family's "go as you please" vacation cruise began July 28.

The yacht was expected to dock at Aberdeen late today for the royal family's annual visit to Scotland.

At a "family party," attended by the officers of the yacht, the King handed gifts to his wife from himself and others of the family.

The yacht's crew clubbed together to buy the Queen a present, and got a double rum ration for the day in honor of the occasion.

LONDON GREETINGS

The Queen received many telegrams of congratulations, among them one from Sir Harry Twyford, Lord Mayor of London, to whom she replied as follows:

"I thank you most sincerely, my Lord Mayor, for the kind message which you, on behalf of the citizens of London, have been good enough to send me on my birthday. The expressions of goodwill which the King and I have constantly received from the City of London are a real inspiration to us, and the recent demonstration of loyalty upon our return from Paris touched us both deeply. I am indeed grateful to you for your kind wishes.—Elizabeth."

Contralto Is Acclaimed For Her Art

Ellen Repp Charms Summer School With Fine Recital

By G. J. D.

It is not often such a gloriously voiced singer comes our way, as on the occasion of a recital given by Ellen Repp, Norwegian-American contralto at the Summer School of Education yesterday evening.

Hers is a gorgeous vocal organ of exceeding range, splendidly controlled, of red-gold quality, and her vocalism, style and ingratiating personality are all matters of admiration and delight. Even from the very beginning, in the opening beautifully hymn-like song, "Lungi Dal Caro Bene," by Secchi, her audience was mmediately aroused to enthusiasm, throughout rapturously endorsing her attainments and gifts and its appreciation at times persistently demanding her return to the platform time and time again.

The 18 numbers of her well chosen program, sung in English, French and German, with delightful diction, were divided into five groups. Perhaps the most outstanding of these was the French group in which there was some beautiful singing in Chausson's "Les Temps des Lilas," Hahn's exacting "L'Heure Exquise," and the lovely aria, "Love, Lend Me Thy Might," from "Samson et Dalila" (Saint-Saens), in which her sympathetic interpretation of the delightful singing passages, rich, full and sonorous brought out vividly and vitally the spirit of the famous air.

The group in German comprised two fine songs by Erich Wolff, a Vinnese composer. These and the third of the group, two Slavian Folk Songs, by Von Takacs, the latter being extremely entertaining in that the voice, the left and the right hand of the piano accompaniment proceeding to cross purposes, met with prolonged applause, the recitalist in response singing in artistic manner the exquisite song "Clouds."

Two miscellaneous groups, in which three songs were by Grieg, the others by Johansen, Tyson, Guion, Farley and Worth, concluded a program that made an exquisite appeal to the fancy. The able accompanist, Arville Belstad, won many admirers.

The regular meeting of Carne Rebekah Lodge, No. 45 will be held this evening at 8 in the I.O.O.F. Hall, Douglas Street. A cordial invitation is extended to visiting Rebekahs. All members are asked to attend to complete arrangements for the picnic to be held at Finnerty Bay on Wednesday, August 10. Tea, sugar and milk will be provided, members please bring their dishes. Anyone wishing transportation, please phone E9664 not later than Saturday, August 6.

Granddaughter of the late steel master, Andrew Carnegie, Louise Carnegie Miller, 18, of New York, is pictured as she left the 700-year-old cathedral in Dornoch, Scotland, on the arm of her husband, J. Hundreds of highlanders crowded historic Skibo Castle at the reception following the marriage cermony which fulfilled the prophecy of Carnegie that "wedding bells will ring out at Skibo Castle for a Carnegie." Brilliant Weddings Mark London Season

Miss Jeanne Stourton, Personal Secretary to Countess Haugwitz-Reventlow, Becomes Bride of Lord Camoys' Son; Anita Lizana Married

LONDON—July has been a month of important weddings. Miss Jeanne Stourton, herself bridesmaid at so many weddings that she has been called the "non-stop bridesmaid," was married to the Hon. Sherman Stonor, only son of Lord Camoys, at Brompton Oratory.

Miss Stourton's wedding was one of the most brilliant of a brilliant season, and Londoners had the opportunity of seeing what those young women who were outstanding debutantes five or six years ago look like today.

LOVELY "DEBS"

Pale, vivacious and a brilliant conversationalist, Miss Stourton was one of the most beautiful of the girls who "came out" in 1933—which was itself a vintage year for beauty. Other much-photographed girls of the same period were Mrs. Charles Sweeney (then Miss Margaret Whigham), Lady Bridgett Poulett, and Mademoiselle Sylvia Regis de Oliveira, daughter of the Brazilian ambassador. They, with some hundreds of their contemporaries and about 2,000 other people, were present at the wedding—and they all looked as beautiful as ever.

Both the bride and groom are members of old Catholic families, and the Pope sent them an Apostolic blessing. The bride was given away by her uncle, Viscount Southwell.

Miss Stourton's wedding gown consisted of some 14 yards of satin and more than 50 yards of tulle. One hundred seed pearls were sewn all over it, and her train was almost six yards long. The dress was full-skirted with a sash belt, and her veil was held in place by drooping orange blossoms.

FIFTEEN BRIDESMAIDS

The bridesmaids—there were 15—struck an unusual note by being dressed in pink crinoline frocks and large pink picture hats trimmed with dark red velvet bands. To match these bands they each carried a bouquet of deep red roses. Mademoiselle Sulvia Regis de Oliveira was one of the bridesmaids.

When the bride came out of the Oratory she was besieged by more press photographers than have been seen at a wedding for a long time.

Miss Stourton has become a well-known figure in London in the past few years. She has worked at many unusual jobs to earn her living. She has been a member of the staff of a large London store, personal secretary to Countess Haugwitz-Reventlow, adviser on film scenarios of a British company, and "professional hostess" at a theatrical first night.

ALL-TENNIS WEDDING

Dressed in a peach-colored satin gown trimmed with tulle frills, a high Spanish comb and long Spanish mantilla, little Anita Lizana, the Chilean tennis player and holder of the American women's singles championships, was married to Mr. Ronald Ellies of Invergowrie, Scotland, at Brompton Oratory, on the same day as Miss Stourton. Her husband, who is 23—Anita is only 22—is a colliery agent in Scotland.

One of the bridesmaids at this wedding was Miss Peggy Scriven, the English lawn tennis player. Another was Miss Joan Physick. To complete the tennis atmosphere the wedding cake had a design of tennis rackets.

Anita, incidently, is now a British subject and is eligible to play for Britain in international lawn tennis championships.

"I shall be delighted to play for Britain in the Wightman Cup if I am chosen," she said after the ceremony.

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

1. When you, a woman, are traveling on shipboard or train, should you speak to a man acquaintance if you encounter him when in negligee on your way to the bath or dressing room?

2. When traveling on shipboard, is it important to attend to getting your place in the dining-room and reserving your deck chair as soon as the ship has sailed?

3. Should you write thank-you notes for bon voyage gifts before you get off the ship?

4. Is it good taste for a man to wear "white tie and tails" on board ship?

5. When traveling in foreign countries is it better to adhere to American customs than to "do as the Romans do"?

What would you do if—

Someone whom you do not like asks you to sit at his table on shipboard?

(a) Accept to avoid hurting his feelings?

(b) Say that you have already arranged to eat with friends?

(c) Say you prefer the freedom of eating alone?

ANSWERS

1. Yes—absurd idea of modesty not to.

2. Yes, unless your travel arrangements are made through a tour company which secures them for you.

3. Yes.

4. No. A dinner jacket is appropriate.

5. Do whatever makes you less conspicuous.

Best "What Would You Do" solution—(b), or (c) would be acceptable. But live up to the reason you give.

FALL WASHABLES HAVE GONE SCOTCH

CHICAGO (AP)—Pipe in the feminine fall fashions—they've gone Scotch.

Plaids and styles inspired by Bonnie Scotland were getting a big play today from wholesalers participating in the wash apparel show's fall and winter market.

More than 1,000 buyers saw the three-hour "hit parade of fall washables" last night.

And let it be said that "washable" apparel no longer means cotton and linen alone. In 1938 style language it includes synthetic materials that look like silk, crepe, velvet, corduroy, satin, flannel and wool.

"Miss Victoria's" Attendants Smile Greetings

Air Hostesses For Canada Planes

Over 300 Girls Have Applied For Trans-Canada Posts

OTTAWA (CP)—When Transcanada's giant, twin-motored plane soars from Montreal heading for Vancouver to inaugurate the continental passenger service in September, it is expected two beige-uniformed stewardesses will be on board. Adding an authoritative mark to their plain gabardine costumes will be silver buttons, with a silver cap badge.

To date the head office of the Transcanada Air Lines in Montreal has been swamped with more than 300 applications from women across Canada who are desirous of pioneering in the hitherto undeveloped field of air hostess. Most of these have been discarded due to lack of special qualifications on the part of the applicants.

They must be registered nurses, unmarried and without planned prospects for matrimony. They must be between the ages of 21 and 26, not taller than five feet five inches and weighing from 95 to 125 pounds. Perfect vision is required of an air hostess, but it is desirable that she have some knowledge of dietetics.

A physical examination is a primary requisite.

Tentative plans allow for two hostesses on a one-way trip. Their flying time would not exceed 100 to 110 monthly flying hours which would in all probability average each one a return trip across Canada three times a month.

Group insurance protection similar to that allowed for other employees of the company will be established, but they will not be under contract to the company.

"Voices" Blamed On Ear Condition

BOSTON—Voices heard by the mentally ill may have a real basis in a diseased condition of the ear, examination of 100 persons suffering from auditory hallucinations revealed.

Nearly one out of five of the patients, when examined by Dr. Elvin V. Semrad at the Boston Psychopathic Hospital, was found to have a toxic type of deafness. These people had very little loss of hearing for the spoken voice, and usually did not complain at all of deafness, but audiometer tests showed loss of hearing of high notes at about the top range of the piccolo, one of the first signs of a degenerative process in the ears. In no case was the hearing abnormally acute.

The voices or noises seem very real and external to the patient with this toxic deafness, Dr. Semrad said in a report to the American Journal of Psychiatry. He will reply to the voice or turn to see where it is coming from. He may even seek protection from the police.

Although most patients are frightened by the experience, some actually enjoy it. One patient heard the voices singing tavern songs very vividly and thoroughly enjoyed them.

Some hear a buzzing which they attribute to motors rather than human voices.

For the patient who is free from toxic deafness, the auditory hallucination is described differently. For him the sound is more personal and more intimately tied up with his own preoccupations. He may not be sure it is a voice, and often describes it as possibly a thought rather than a voice. He speaks of voices in his head, or voices in the atmosphere, or inner voices, and may even say, "It is not in my ears."

Two More Alberta Paralysis Cases

EDMONTON (CP) — Serum was rushed from Edmonton today for treatment of Glen Magoon, 35, rural mail carrier of the Rocky Mountain House district in central Alberta, and his 11-year-old son, Verne, stricken Tuesday with infantile paralysis.

Condition of the father was described as critical, while the son's condition was less serious.

Eighteen cases of the dread poliomyelitis, one of which was fatal, have been reported in Alberta since July 1.

She's Real Sailor

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng. — Mrs. William M. Polk, 80, of New York, "queen of Atlantic travelers," arrived here the other day aboard the Aquitania for her 55th visit to England.

Queen Mother Revives Ancient Custom

Not since the days of "Good Queen Bess" has a British queen sailed down the Thames to the Tower of London, until Queen Mary boarded the Trinity House launch, the Lady Apsley, the other day while cheering crowds lined the enbankment, delighted to see the Royal Standard floating from the little ship. The Queen, who was en route to a garden party at the Tower, was frocked in one of her favorite pastel shades, powder blue, and the photograph shows her (extreme right) aboard the Lady Apsley as the vessel passed H.M.S. President, the naval training ship, moored at the enbankment.

Available to all residents of this coast, tickets for Victorians will be good to leave Vancouver C.P.R. station on the 8.05 train only, Wednesday, August 10. Passengers on this bargain fare excursion from New Westminster will connect at Coquitlam with the Kettle Valley train.

Must Hold High Pioneer Ideals

Judge W. C. Kelly Speaks at Bruce, Huron and Grey Old Boys' Picnic

At the annual picnic of the Bruce, Huron and Grey Old Boys' Association at Mount Douglas Park yesterday, Judge W. C. Kelly, Grand Forks, gave an inspiring address to the gathering.

The picnic was made up of former residents of Bruce, Huron and Grey Counties of Ontario.

Judge Kelly urged the young people to hold high the ideals for which their fathers and mothers stood. He said that they should not be afraid of difficulties that might have to be encountered, and he praised the pioneers of their former districts for the hardships they had to go through. In overcoming difficulties, success was in sight.

The speaker said that he thought that the boys and girls of today had too much done for them in an educational way. He reminded those present that they should be first of all good Canadians.

Augus Galbraith, president of the association, introduced the speaker.

Neil Pollock and David McCall told of the Vancouver Bruce Old Boys' picnics held recently. Miss Calbrick, Regina, was introduced as an old-time Bruce resident, and Miss Jessie Pollock rendered pipe music during the afternoon.

It was decided to make the second Wednesday in July the permanent date of the annual picnic of the organization.

Clipper Loss Curbs Atlantic Plans

CHICAGO — America's participation in trans-Atlantic aviation, tentatively scheduled for this coming fall, may face curtailment or delay as the result of loss of the Hawaiian Clipper.

Should the 26-ton craft not be found, or found in such wrecked condition that it will no longer be of use, Pan-American Airways will be faced with a shortage of equipment needed for full operation on new trans-Atlantic services to Europe and new trans-Pacific flights to New Zealand.

The second ocean flying boat to be lost by Pan-American in little more than six months, after years of remarkably safe operation, the Hawaiian Clipper's disappearance will leave Pan-American Airways with but eight great ocean airliners, for operation on three lengthy routes to China, New Zealand and Europe. The New Zealand line, already surveyed, is like the trans-Atlantic service to be launched within a few months.

Immediate curtailment of the trans-Pacific line may be necessitated by the fact that six of the clippers, the famous Atlantic type, are still "in the works" at the Boeing factory in Seattle. Only one has so far reached flight-testing stage. Until the mishap to the Hawaiian Clipper, three flying boats were in use on the Pacific. Now there may be only two.

At the root of Pan-American Airway's anticipated difficulty is the fact that airplanes of the size required are strictly custom built and take a year or more from drawing board to reality. Furthermore, so rapid is the pace of aeronautical advance, that ordering additional planes of the type already laid down may mean that by the time they could be delivered they would be obsolete.

Try It on Yours

NEW YORK—The average pet dog has a vocabulary of 60 words, that is it understands that many, about the same as that of an 18-month-old baby, says Wilfrid J. Funk, the dictionary publisher.

A Japanese legend has it that music was devised by the gods to lure the sun goddess from a cave where she had retired.

Two Aerobiologists Lost on Clipper

WASHINGTON—The two Washington scientists on the lost trans-Pacific clipper ship were engaged upon pioneering explorations in one of the newest branches of science: Aerobiology.

Dr. Earl B. McKinley, dean of the George Washington University Medical School, and Fred C. Meier, U.S. Department of Agriculture scientist, were both members of the National Research Council's committee on aerobiology, formed this spring to push intensively research upon how microscopic objects are carried through the air, both indoors and outdoors.

They were making the trip across the Pacific by air in order to expose sticky plates to the air and thus determine the altitude at which organisms that carry plant and animal diseases may be found.

Mr. Meier had co-operated with Col. Charles Lindbergh on his North Atlantic flight of 1933, and the collections brought back from that flight showed that pollen and spores of fungi were carried by air currents between the northern lands. The stratosphere flight of 1936 collected living spores of 10 different organisms above 36,000 feet altitude. Airplane flights are used to direct grain rust control programs and to chart the pollen content of the air in connection with hay fever.

Dr. McKinley was to spend a few days in Manila, where he has engaged in leprosy studies, a field in which he was an internationally recognized authority.

One of Dr. McKinley's contributions to this field was the successful cultivation of the leprosy bacillus outside the living body. More recently Dr. McKinley was attempting to develop a skin test for diagnosing leprosy, an achievement that would allow the detection of leprosy in its early stages before the symptoms appear.

Dr. McKinley had planned to make the Pacific round trip by air and then return in time to go to Cambridge, England, to attend the British Association for the Advancement of Science, beginning Aug. 17, to which he was an American delegate.

Fifteen miles per hour under certain conditions can be infinitely more hazardous than 50 miles an hour under other conditions. An ocean liner docking at one mile an hour may be moving too fast for conditions, and a boy on roller skates can go faster than he should go for safety.

OAKES VOYAGING BACK TO BAHAMAS

LONDON (CP)—Harry Oakes, Canadian mining millionaire, chartered a bus and transported himself, his family and their 40 pieces of baggage to Southampton, where they boarded the liner Queen Mary yesterday.

After a stay in England, during which the former prospector studied David Lloyd George's back-to-the-land scheme, the Oakes family is returning to Nassau, Bahamas, where they now reside.

"Like a good many other countries," Mr. Oakes said, "England is suffering from having too many people and too little land. Farms are being swallowed up by houses and trees are disappearing."

Mr. Oakes, recently elected to a seat in the Bahamas Legislature, said he and his family decided to travel to Southampton by bus because it was roomy and saved the trouble of sending their luggage ahead.

Victoria Rink Reaches Final

Sports Mirror

ADOPTING HIS USUAL close-mouthed attitude, Manager Bill Terry of the New York Giants' ball club has suspended his freshman pitching star of last season, Cliff Melton, without pay. In making the announcement Terry refused to give any reasons, just remarking it "was the business of the ball club." No doubt Terry, who is the bugbear of the baseball writers, will have the boys on his neck again.

Terry has certainly been having his troubles. Last spring, when Burgess Whitehead, crack second baseman of Bill's championship outfits of 1936 and 1937, underwent an operation for appendicitis, Terry took the news lightly. The Giants had too much pitching and other things to need to worry about one man, said Terry. But, as he watches his Giants stagger along five games back of Pittsburgh the New York pilot knows better.

Whitehead reported too soon, pulled something lose and has been lost to the team since the first month. If the Giants had all the games that have slipped through second base they would not be in second place now. Lou Chiozza proved such an erratic weak-hitting replacement that Terry sent slugging Wally Berger and a chunk of cash to Cincinnati in exchange for the renowned Greek, Alex. Kampouris. Alex. proved a prime bust at the keystone and now comes 34-year-old Chalmer Cissell to the Polo Grounds in a last, despairing effort to pull the champions' infield together.

The Giants bought Cissell from Baltimore for something like $35,000, because even shopworn minor leaguers suddenly take on a new value when a club starts making repairs in mid-season. Whether Cissell, who first saw the big league 10 years ago, will be an improvement upon Chiozza and Kampouris is strictly a gamble. In his first game Tuesday he fielded perfectly but failed to get a hit.

Cissell never could hit. In 1928, the year after the Chicago White Sox purchased him for $123,000 in cash and players from Portland, he hit an extravagant .360, which by 1931 had dropped to .20. Right after that the Sox traded him to Cleveland. Later he saw a little service with Boston before dropping out of the big show.

In other words, Cissell never proved himself a big league batter, and his fielding, though brilliant at times, was spotty. In one game with Portland, in fact, he committed five errors and figured in seven double plays. With Baltimore this year he hit .296 in 94 games, and they say his fielding has improved. If he does as well with the Giants, Terry has done himself a lot of good. But players who know Cissell express their doubts.

So, taking things all around, Terry is kind of on the spot. His pitching has gone to pot in the hot weather. Hal Schumacher has come down with his old shoulder trouble. Up until Tuesday only Carl Hubbell had been able to finish a game he started in the last fortnight and on that day Hubbell was blasted from the box by the Chicago Cubs.

Sam Barr Skips Squad Into Last Round of Feature Lawn Bowling Event

The Victoria Canadian Pacific Club rink, skipped by Sam Barr, marched into the final of the men's rinks competition to meet R. Adam's Terminal Club from Vancouver yesterday evening when they defeated the California rink skipped by S. Young, 18 to 14, after a keenly-fought semifinal contest.

Played under the lights at Beacon Hill, this match attracted a large gallery.

Young's rink bowled beautifully on the first end, establishing a 7 to 0 lead, but the Victorians came back strong in the following three sessions, when they scored 11 points to their opponent's nil. They were never headed thereafter.

Score by ends:

WOMEN FINALISTS

In women's rinks semifinals played last evening, the North Vancouver rink skipped by Mrs. A. Stewart, and the Burnside rink skipped by Mrs. A. W Stewart, scored triumphs to advance into the final bracket. The North Vancouver rink defeated Mrs. Holmes, C.P., Vancouver, 19 to 9, while the local squad eliminated Mrs. McKeachie, Victoria, 16 to 11.

Mrs. Mowatt and Mrs. Holmes, both of Burnside, reached the jewelry in the women's singles last evening.

Play opened in the 10 sections in the men's doubles competition yesterday. They played four games, with the following three games scheduled today. Seven teams scored four straight victories and there were numerous squads with three wins and one loss.

Only four players remain in the men's singles competition. They are: A. Findlay and J. W. Mercer of the Burnside Club and W. Yates and D. Wotherspoon, both of Vancouver. Semifinal and final matches are billed for Saturday morning.

Play will open in the locals vs. visitors matches this evening at 7, while the mixed rinks contests will be ushered in tomorrow morning at 9 on four club greens.

ZULU GIANTS PLAY TONIGHT

Crack Touring Ball Team Will Oppose Local All-stars at Athletic Park

Tonight at Athletic Park, starting at 6, the touring African Zulu Giants' ball team will make a return appearance against the Victoria all-stars.

The Giants played here in two exhibition games here last week and attracted large crowds. The touring players pack plenty of comedy and in addition are smart performers.

Little Prince Rusto, comedian extraordinary, is expected to take the mound for the Giants tonight.

The Victoria team will be in charge of Roy Barnes and he will have the strongest available nine on hand.

BERT SUTTON RUNS SECOND

Bert Sutton, Victoria's leading racing driver, invaded Seattle last night and copped second place in the 15-lap main event at the Evergreen Speed Bowl, driving the "Jack Smith Special."

Starting in seventh position, Sutton treated the Seattle fans to a neat exhibition of speed driving to work into second place at the finish. The race was won by Lew McMurtry.

In addition Sutton won his heat race. The field was plenty fast, with such well-known drivers as Tony West, Chic Barbo, Swede Linskog, Wes Moore and Tommy Legge taking part. Jimmy Laird of Victoria also drove but failed to get into the prize money.

Jack Taylor, manager of the Langford track, announced today another meet will be staged on Saturday night. Time trials will start at 7.30 and the first race 15 minutes later.

Six of the fastest cars in the Pacific Northwest will come over from Seattle for the event and will include the following cars and drivers: No. 62, Lew McMurtry; No. 32, Les Anderson; No. 10, Chic Barbo; No. 38, Jack Spaulding; No. 2, Swede Linskog, and No. 58, Wes Moore.

The local drivers will include, in addition to Sutton and Laird, Fred Carson, "Digger" Caldwell and Corky Thomas. It is expected another car will be entered from Nanaimo.

Softball Final Opens at Duncan

Semifinal playoffs of the Mid-Island Softball Association will get under way at the Agricultural Grounds, Duncan, on Sunday between Duncan McMillan and Alberni. The first game is set for 2.30 and the second at 5.

The winners will meet the Victoria champions for the island championship.

The Sandlot Vander Meer

Thirteen-year-old Arthur "Bud" Potts shows the start of the windup that gave him his second consecutive no-hit, no-run game in a grammar school league in Philadelphia and tied the record-making accomplishment of Johnny Vander Meer in professional baseball a few weeks ago. Arthur pitches for the Disston school team and his second straight no-hit game, a 7 to 0 victory over Whitehall School, was his fourth shutout in five starts. He is four feet, 11 inches tall but hopes to grow fast in the years ahead so the big league baseball scouts can see him.

Ball Clubs Have Smart Boys Dizzy

Underdogs Are Playing Havoc in Both National and American League Races

The calendar must be wrong. If this is August 4, then what are the Pittsburgh Pirates, who are usually sound asleep by this time, doing up there five and a half games in front of the National League baseball pack at this late date, and how come Cleveland's Indians, once so docile and sweet to the leaders, are in there punching, only two games off the New York Yankees in the American League party?

And those aren't the only cases where either the calendar is way off or someone has his dates twisted. For instance, there are the Cincinnati Reds, doormats of 1937, tied with the up-and-down Chicago Cubs for the National League's third place, while the somewhat gasless St. Louis Cardinals wallow around in seventh and Brooklyn's baffling Dodgers head the second division.

And over in the American League, the supposedly woebegone Washington Senators hang grimly on to fourth place, while Mickey Cochrane's Detroit Tigers can't seem to stay above the .500 mark.

Take that National League fuss. Pie Traynor must be feeding his blazing Bucs a combination of raw meat liberally sprinkled with dynamite. Even though the season is on the way toward the three-quarter mark, the "zing" Lee Handley and Pep Young are pouring in the infield, plus the work of the younger pitchers, is making the club hotter than the weather.

WIN TWIN BILL

They added half a game to their first place bulge yesterday by knocking off the Bees up in Boston in both ends of a double-header, 9 to 4 and 5 to 3, which is no easy task in itself, and the fact they fired 28 hits in turning the trick makes it one of the season's wonders.

From the looks of things, the Giants, five and a half games back—seven on the losing side—aren't going to do much catching up, even though they showed signs of coming to life in walloping the Cubs 8 to 3 yesterday with an attack featured by four homers.

The Yankees added a slim half-game to their edge by downing the Tigers, 10 to 7, in 10 innings, with Joe Gordon's overtime homer featuring the winning rally. Cleveland, after dropping a 4 to 3 decision to Boston's Red Sox, in a twin bill opener, came back to take the nightcap 8 to 6.

Ival Goodman's 27th homer paced a three-run rally in the

Angling Derby Billed Sunday

400 Fishermen Will Compete for Prizes in Second Meet

Saanich Inlet will experience another heavy flood of traffic on Sunday. Salmon anglers in all walks of life—from the butcher boy to the business man and not to forget a strong representation from the women's ranks—will go hunting for the "big ones" in another attempt to qualify for the prizes at stake in the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association salmon derby.

Sunday's classic will be the second of the year and is expected at attract a large midseason crowd of fishers. The last count, according to Dave Cook, secretary, shows a membership of nearly 400—a 25 per cent increase since the last competition.

HANDSOME PRIZES

The prizes are really worth while going after as a glance in the Poodle Dog Cafe window, where they are displayed, will bear out.

The competition will last for 12 hours. It will open with the firing of a gun at 6 in the morning and close at 6 in the evening. Competitors must be on the Anchorage wharf when the closing gun goes off to be able to weigh in their catches. Prizes will be presented shortly after 6 on the Anchorage grounds by Tommy W. McPherson.

Chuck Kinlock, Faud Ray and Tommy Rickinson will be in charge of the weighing in.

The prize list follows: First prize, silver-plated coffee percolator with silex, a tray and sugar and milk containers; second prize, tea service; third prize, waffle iron; fourth prize, carving set; women's special, 66-piece dinner set; women's second and third, casseroles; rowboat special, casserole; men's consolation, clock; women's consolation, fully-equipped picnic basket.

It is pointed out that all but prizewinners can qualify for the consolation prizes. So every angler is urged to weigh in a fish, no matter how small.

GOLF WINNERS

Mrs. Hew Paterson and Mrs. King tied for top place in A class in the monthly medal competition held at the Victoria Golf Club. The former had a score of 92-9—83, and the latter scored 101-18—83. In B class, Mrs. E. D. Todd was the winner with 98-19—79.

Davis Cuppers Gain Net Quarter-finals

Parker, Allison and Carl Fischer Also Advance in Canadian Play

TORONTO (CP)—After the strokes have been learned, the main attribute in tennis is confidence, according to Carl Fischer, who remained in the Canadian tennis championships singles today with seven others.

The Detroit player explained his belief to Mercer Beasley, coach of the tournament's seeded player, Frankie Parker of Milwaukee and New York. And Beasley agreed, with the curt comment that Parker was playing here to gain confidence for the campaign that leads to the United States national championships and the fight for positions on the Davis Cup team.

Parker has dropped only four games in three matches and six sets. Yesterday he began to gather steam as he drove Bruce Hall of Toronto, ranked No. 10 in Canada, from the fourth round, 6-0, 6-1.

Accompanying Parker and Fischer into today's quarter finals were the four members of Canada's Davis cup team—Bobby Murray and Laird Watt of Montreal, Ross Wilson of Toronto and Doug Cameron of Vancouver—and Wilmer Allison of Austin, Texas, and Gordon Robinson of Stamford, Ont.

ALLISON BRILLIANT

Allison won yesterday's most brilliant match, finding a weakness in the backhand of Bob Madden to beat the Detroit youngster, 6-4, 7-5. Only other matches which didn't develop into long battles were Fischer's 6-1, 7-5, success over the Montreal city champion, Roger Durivage, and Watt's 6-1, 6-2, win over Cuthbert Hopper of Toronto.

Murray was down 2-5 at one time in his duel with Dr. Georges Leclerc of Montreal, but rallied to win 7-5, 6-3. Cameron and Don McDiarmid of Ottawa played a patient contest of steady plugging until Cameron won 6-1, 10-8. Wilson stopped the surprising bid of Bill Pigott of Hamilton, Ont., 6-3, 2-6, 7-5. Robinson stopped Hamilton's other threat, Fred Smye, 6-3, 3-6, 6-4.

Bardsley and Sidaway Score Courageous Win

Are Crowned P.N.W. Net Champions

Come From Far Back to Whip Brawn and Hawes; Prusoff Takes Singles

Putting on a thrilling and courageous comeback after dropping the first two sets, Jimmy Bardsley and Ron Sidaway of Vancouver won themselves the Pacific Northwest sectionals doubles tennis championship at the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club yesterday afternoon. This pair of lads, who just wouldn't be beat, captured a gruelling five-set match from Jack Brawn and Russ Hawes, also of Vancouver, 7-9, 2-6, 6-4, 6-2, 7-5.

It was easily the most interesting match of the day and the gallery time and again applauded the foursome for their smart shots and exciting rallies.

Cutting loose with a beautiful variety of shots, in addition to a blistering service, Henry (Hank) Prusoff turned back Mel Dranga in straight sets, 6-1, 6-3, 6-3, in the all-Seattle final for the P.N.W. sectionals singles crown. Dranga was defending the title he won last year at Vancouver.

Prusoff, back in the form that marked his play before his injury a few years ago, was getting beautiful length on his deadly chops with the result Dranga was running all over the court in an effort to get them back. The giant Hank was in complete command all the way and his exhibition was well worth watching.

A THRILLER

But it was the doubles that really gave the spectators something to talk about. After Brawn and Hawes had taken the first two sets it looked like the match was all over. But, with Bardsley displaying the same fighting spirit that marked his exhibitions on the basketball court and inspiring Sidaway to play his head off, the two underdogs got back into the struggle with a vengeance. They came from behind to win the third set and then took the fourth to even it up with the loss of only two games.

The fifth and final set was packed full of action. Brawn and Hawes jumped into the lead by taking their own service. Bardsley and Sidaway followed suit but went down again 2 to 1

JOHN BRIGGS RING STAR

Victoria Boy Attracts Notice as Heavyweight With Air Force in England

John Briggs, 22-year-old athletic son of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Briggs, 2075 Kings Road, Victoria, promises to add to the enviable sports record of the family through his activities in England, where he is now in training for the Royal Air Force.

Since he arrived in England six months ago, John has already been singled out as the prospective heavyweight champion of the Royal Air Force.

Six feet three inches tall and weighing between 225 and 230 pounds, the young Canadian first attracted attention when he joined in a football game.

"Are you interested in boxing?" a flying officer asked him.

"Slightly," answered John.

The next step was John was sent to Calshott for ring training. He gets special food, does five miles road work a day and has three sparring partners at his disposal. He has been started in several trial bouts and further raised the hopes of the Air Force by winning them all by knockouts.

FATHER WAS CHAMP

The information comes as great news to his father, Frank Briggs, who has been with the B.A. Paint Co. for 19 years, as Frank held the army heavyweight championship in India for 10 years and has seen three sons, Stan, Fred and Alec, in addition to John, follow his lead in boxing and other sports. All are over the six-foot mark. Alec carried off three of the weight events at the Highland Games recently. Fred is tumbling for the Y.M.C.A., and Stan, with the Royal Canadian Navy, is among the star boxers of the sailors. All have won good ratings in athletics generally in Victoria.

In addition to boxing, John expects to keep up his football. After leaving the Willows School here he played senior rugby for the Canadian Scottish and played twice on rep teams.

Durgan reports he has just as strong a club this year.

JAMES BAY IN LACROSSE WIN

Defeat Syracuse 9 to 7 Before Large Boxla Crowd at Athletic Park

Before a large crowd last evening at the Athletic Park, intermediate box lacrosse squads, playing under the names of James Bay and Syracuse, met in an interesting one-hour engagement, with Bays finishing on the top end of a 9 to 7 score.

Bays were out in front 4 to 2 at the halfway mark, but Syracuse came back in the third quarter and blasted in four markers to their opponents' one to take a 6 to 5 lead. Play was fast and exciting, much to the delight of the spectators, in the final period when the Bays ran in four goals to Syracuse's one to emerge with a 9 to 7 victory.

Charlie Thomas, James Bay sharpshooter, was high scorer with four goals.

E. Popham and "Cotton" Brynjolfson refereed.

Heavy Milling On Navy Boxing Card

Seven Knockouts Seen as Boxers From York and R.C.N. Do Battle

Blood and thunder boxing battles had well over 1,000 enthusiastic fans up on their feet throughout most of last night's navy week boxing card presented by members of the visiting H.M.S. York and of the Royal Canadian Navy at the Athletic Park.

The program brought together 12 pairs of fistic artists from featherweights to heavyweights, and in all divisions action was fast and furious. Each bout was scheduled three rounds.

The main event presented middleweights, Sig. La Rondie, York and A. S. Mylrea, Fraser, in a hard hitting battle in which the Fraser seaman came out on top by a decision. They came out fighting cautiously at the start of the fight, but Mylrea's right soon came into action with deadly accuracy and plenty of leather was soon in the air. The clash featured close in fighting with numerous clinches at which time Mylrea's right continued to flash uppercuts to La Rondie's jaw. In the third round the two set to with hard rights and lefts to face and body, and the round ended, Mylrea handing out everything possible and the York boy taking it.

BOUTS STOPPED

Throughout the evening the bouts were stopped frequently by the referees to caution the fighters against clinches and foul blows, and to request silence from the excited fans so that the participators could hear the referee's rulings. The bouts were staged under navy and army rules with the officials outside the ring.

Four knockouts and three technical knockouts, in two of which York fighters left the ring in protest to rulings, gave the fans lots of material to work out "cheerings" and "booings."

FIRST KNOCKOUT

The first knockout came in the first round in a lightweight classic between Ord. Stevenson, York, and Ard. Bryan, R.C.N.B., in which the latter boxer was the one standing at the end of the duel. It was a flashing of fists from the start. A long looping right of Bryan's was the first blow landed, and it connected squarely on Stevenson's jaw. Before he had time to realize where the punch came from, Bryan shot another right to Stevenson's jaw and he went down hard, pulling himself up from the canvas fast, but with very shaky knees. The two then exchanged lefts and rights, and then Bryan exploded another terrific right on his op-

Bright Ideas FOR YOUR VACATION

Cowichan Bay Holds Promise For Vacationists

Splendid Fishing and Other Sports

Few spots along the Vancouver Island coast are more attractive than the far-famed Cowichan Bay, situated just a few miles south of Duncan on the Island Highway — and less than two hours' drive from Victoria. This land-locked body of salt water is advantageously situated in a gentle curve of the shoreline. At the head of the bay the two great rivers, Koksilah and Cowichan, empty their waters into the sea. Beyond the river flats, Mount Tzouhalem, so dear to the heart of every Cowichan Indian, stands guard over the farthest shore. Over all this scenic beauty is an air of enchantment that ever calls to the visitor in search of real holiday.

For years it has been known that at Cowichan Bay is to be found some of the finest fishing on the coast. The excellence of the trolling in these protected waters has brought fame to the whole district. Of recent years, the sport of catching salmon on a fly has been added.

BUENA VISTA HOTEL

Driving out from Victoria, the motorist follows the highway until he reaches Cowichan Bay. Then he turns up the short road that leads to Buena Vista, the summer hotel with the beautiful view. High up against the side of the hill this modern hotel stands, its many-windowed rooms and, wide spacious verandas commanding a sweeping view of the bay and the shore lines for many miles in either direction Buena Vista stands in one of the most striking situations on the island. It is modern and up-to-date in every respect. Splendid meals are served. Mr. F. Saunders, the proprietor, knows everything about Cowichan Bay and the fish in it. He runs a salmon derby for the guests at his hotel during the season and in every way tries to give pleasure to vacation-seekers.

The Cowichan district boasts one of the oldest tribes of Indians on Vancouver Island. Within a short distance of the bay are to be found relics of the early days of their might. Near the foot of Tzouhalem Mountain, at the head of the bay, is the grave of Chief Sul-a-malt, a great Indian warrior, around whose name many strange tales are woven. There is the old stone church, too, that stands without doors or windows. Many are the tales as to why it should be so.

WILCUMA GUEST HOUSE

For those who like the seclusion of wooded grounds, combined with dainty appointments and everything that goes to make up a quiet English country home, Wilcuma, situated near the highway in its own acreage of beautiful grounds and sandy coves, is an ideal place to spend a summer vacation. This year a new wing has been added to the main house to cater to the needs of discriminating guests, with no loss of individuality and charm. A new dining-room is now open, and the alterations include a writing-room and an unusually large lounge. The view from the windows is magnificent, commanding a sweeping view of Cowichan Bay. Every convenience, including hot and cold water in every bedroom, is to be found, and the whole is beautifully furnished.

Cowichan Bay calls to everyone who loves the great outdoors, and to those who search out its wonders it gives a welcome that will long be remembered in the vacationist's memory book of outdoor hours.

Oregon Coast Hallway To B.C.

State Senator E. W. Miller Tells of Increasing Travel Exchange

The Oregon Coast Highway is becoming increasingly a hallway for travel between Vancouver Island and California, with consequent benefits to the tourist businesses of both Oregon and British Columbia, State Senator Edward W. Miller of Oregon said yesterday.

Senator Miller, who is manager of the Oregon Coast Association and a member of the Oregon State Planning Board, is here to attend the Mayors' Conference organized by the city of Victoria.

He said Oregon was expecting an even greater exchange of visitors with British Columbia next summer at the time of the San Francisco World's Fair.

Senator Miller congratulated Victoria on its increased tourist business this year, and paid strong tribute to George I. Warren, Victoria and Island publicity commissioner, whom he called "one of the outstanding travel promoters and directors of America."

He also stressed the value of the work of the new tourist bureau of the provincial Department of Trade and Industry.

Senator Miller is a Republican. His opinion of President Roosevelt is: "He is a remarkably brilliant man who will stand out among all the Presidents of the United States, but the country is increasingly finding it cannot depend on him. His instability makes business and industry afraid. An increasing number of people are looking to the time when the country may be relieved of his experimentation and guesswork."

New High School For Shawnigan

SHAWNIGAN LAKE—A special meeting of the ratepayers of the Shawnigan Lake school district was held Monday. H. E. Hawking was in the chair.

With a growing population in the district, opinion was expressed that a rural high school should be established. The ratepayers endorsed the proposal.

Inspector W. G. Gamble of the education department spoke and plans were made for acquiring some extra property for school purposes.

TEACHERS LEARN ABOUT HAPPINESS

Not in the Past or Wishes For Future, Lecturer Tells Teachers

There is no formula for happiness except to look for it in the present, not in memories of the past or wishes for the future, Dr. J. M. Ewing of the Provincial Normal School, Vancouver, told teachers attending the Victoria Summer School of Education yesterday.

But in his address on "The Pursuit of Happiness" he gave a number of rules which would help in finding it.

The most lasting happiness was through human association, he said, and that was the negation of any antagonism between the individual and society, which was built up to serve the needs of individuals in the mass.

Happiness required an outer and an inner harmony, the first through adjustment to society and to the habits and customs of other people, the second through an inner integration breaking down the logic-tight compartments in the mind and settling the mental conflicts caused by the clash of such opposites as early training and scientific education.

Happiness could be aided by seven agencies, said Dr. Ewing. He listed them as follows:

(1) Satisfaction of bodily needs and physical and mental health.

(2) The achievement of a sense of significance, of meaning something in the world.

(3) A sense of security, not financial but of belonging to the group and being respected by it.

(4) Friendship, the crowning grace of life.

(5) A questing mind which realized mental development did not end with school and was receptive to new ideas, especially of conduct.

(6) Aesthetic sensitivity and the ability to accept changing artistic standards.

(7) A humorous outlook on life, meaning a sense of proportion and a realization of personal insignificance.

Rodeo Feature Of Horse Show

Cowboys Will Perform At Victoria Exhibition Next Month

A real rodeo program of four acts has been arranged for each night of the horse show at the Willows during exhibition week, it was announced yesterday by W. H. Mearns, secretary of the B.C. Agricultural Association.

Having in mind the fine performances provided by the Arabian horses at the show last year, the B.C. Agricultural Association has decided to provide just as thrilling a program this year, but of a different character.

Riders from the Diamond W. Ranch in Ellensburgh, Wash., who have been performing in Los Angeles, will come here for fair week, September 10 to 17.

Two outstanding ropers will do spectacular horse catches, such as acrobatic catches, somersaulting three loops and catching running horse, standing on head and catching horse, and catching six and eight horses at a time.

Saddle bronco riding will be demonstrated. This act will consist of eight of 10 good bucking horses mounted by skilled cowboys. A cowboy clown and mule will provide five minutes of funny antics that also will carry with it some spectacular tricks.

The final act will be a performance by riders who have competed at all the big rodeos on the coast. These riders will do skilful and daring work in the saddle and will ride beautiful mounts.

These acts will be interspersed between the horse show competitions, which in themselves have always been outstanding attractions during fair week.

"Fire College" courses were held last year in 26 states to demonstrate the latest ideas in fire fighting.

PENSIONERS ASK DOLLAR A DAY

Old age pensioners, who have now formed an organization in Victoria known as Corporation No. 3 of the B.C. Old Age Pensioners' Association, are seeking to have pensions increased from $20 a month to a dollar a day.

At a recent meeting attended by 125 pensioners, they also voiced the opinion that the age when a person becomes eligible for an old age pension should be reduced from 70 years to 65 years.

A memorandum submitted to the federal and provincial governments in 1935-36 was referred to in the arguments for improved changes.

S. Bartlett addressed the gathering and urged that the large number present should strive in a united action for the suggested changes.

TO STUDY CITY RELIEF CASES

Minister of Labor Provided With List of Appeals on Unemployability Ruling

Sympathy with Victoria's claims that a man able to work should not be ruled unemployable merely because he was unable to find a job, was voiced by Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, yesterday in an interview with Alderman S. H. Okell, city relief committee chairman, and E. G. Snowden, relief officer.

The city representatives carried with them a list of 230 cases declared unemployable by the Employment Service of Canada and which the city feels should not be classed in that category. The list includes 90 single men, 125 married men and 15 women.

"We explained that we thought if a man could work he should not be ruled unemployable. The minister appreciated the merit of our argument and promised to give fuller consideration to the different classes included in the list we presented," Alderman Okell reported today.

The minister, he added, had made no definite promise regarding individual cases, but had stated he would see the matter was given greater attention.

The cases were brought to his attention as the result of his offer to hear appeals from rulings made by the Employment Service of Canada on certain city cases. That offer was extended when members of the executive of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities met the government on the unemployment and particularly the unemployability questions last month.

Alderman Okell expressed satisfaction with the interview yesterday, voicing the city's appreciation of the minister's action in receiving the appeals on the contested cases.

JACK BENNY SEES VICTORIA

Famed Radio Entertainer Recalls Days He Appeared Here in Vaudeville

Eighteen years ago a man called Benny Kubelsky came to Victoria with the Orpheum Circuit which played for three days before crowded houses at the Royal Victoria Theatre. No one had ever heard of him before, but every member of the three audiences thought he was pretty funny.

Yesterday the same man came back to Victoria on vacation and registered at the Empress Hotel under the name of Jack Benny. Everyone knows him now as one of radio's top-line entertainers, who draws a fabulous salary for making millions laugh for half an hour each Sunday evening.

He drove down from Nanaimo yesterday evening with his youngest brother-in-law, Hilliard Marks, in his antique Maxwell touring car, which has been the butt of many a joke over the radio.

Last night he had an hour's chat with Mayor McGavin and Alderman W. H. Davies, met Mayor Joe Carson of Portland and several other visitors to the city and left this morning at 9 by Ss. Iroquois for Port Angeles, en route to Seattle where he will join his wife, the Mary Livingstone of his radio hour. She went from Vancouver to Seattle yesterday to meet their daughter, Joanie.

LIKES LONDON

Mr. Benny told the Mayor and Alderman Davies that his favorite city was London, where he had many friends. He said, if contracts could be arranged, he would like to live there for a time.

"He's a wonderful man and has one of the finest personalities I've ever seen," Alderman Davies said. "We tried to get him to stay over for the civic old English dinner tonight, but he couldn't arrange it."

The radio and movie comedian talked about every subject, from prize fights to world affairs. He is not a comedian in private, is rather quiet and serious and while most genial was careful to keep out of his suite several would-be gate crashers.

He also met Mrs. McGavin and the Mayor's small son, Robert, to whom he took quite a liking.

Later he watched the Scottish band greet Mayor Carson and autographed several of the big drums.

LIKES VICTORIA

After a drive to the Butchart Gardens and other spots of interest about the district, Mr. Benny said he thought Victoria was one of the loviest cities he had ever seen. He said he was more than delighted that he and his wife changed their plans for a trip to New York at the last minute and came to the Northwest instead.

He voiced regret, however, that he could not spend about a week on the Island fishing for big salmon at Campbell River about which he had heard from friends in Hollywood.

In Vancouver he spoke briefly over a radio station, but steadfastly refused other offers to make a national talk. He said he didn't want to see a radio again until October, when he will resume his present contract.

Just before he left on his present trip his doctor advised him to cut down on cigars for the sake of his health. For years he smoked 18 a day. In the last week he has had only three and he intends to stick by his doctor's orders.

Head of California State Garden Clubs Remains Extra Time to See Them

So delighted was she with Victoria's gardens in their midsummer bloom that Mrs. S. A. Guiberson, president of the Association of State Garden Clubs of California remained in Victoria two days longer than the garden enthusiasts who spent the weekend in the city.

Mrs. Guiberson left today for her home in Beverly Hills after exploring many of Victoria's finest gardens and gathering specimens for her own hillside garden in the south.

She was registered at the Empress Hotel and spent a great deal of time in the gardens there, being much impressed with the rock garden, pool and waterfall.

Archibald Blue, financial editor of The Montreal Star and Mrs. Blue arrived at the hotel yesterday, talked with Jack Benny for a few minutes and then left for Vancouver to sail for a cruise to Jervis Inlet.

BUILDING OF BRIDGES TOLD

Thomas W. Bradbury Explains Construction of San Francisco Bridges

In a brief illustrated address at the regular luncheon meeting of the Victoria Rotary Club at the Empress Hotel today, Thomas W. Bradbury told of the San Francisco bridges under the title "The Marvels of Modern Bridge Building."

The speaker was introduced by G. Hamilton Harman, president of the club. The lecture was a continuation of a similar talk by Mr. Bradbury at a Rotary luncheon three weeks ago.

Mr. Bradbury dealt briefly with (1) the sub-structures of the two suspension bridges, (2) the caisson piers, (3) the erection of the steel piers, (4) the finished cable layout, (5) the anchorages, (6) the hanging of the bridge runways and (7) the complete structure, in the first part of his address.

In explaining the work of the anchorages, he said that each anchorage carried nearly half of the weight of the main span. There was about 60 feet of the main span in the centre that had to be put in place from a suspension platform. This was one of the most dangerous pieces of work.

The speaker explained the cable winding and how the exact cable layout was determined. Each cable had to be placed within an eighth of an inch of the planned position. A theodolite was used in the placings.

The ramps at each end of the bridge were complicated affairs which enabled an equal distribution of traffic.

An invitation was read from Viv Shoemaker, Y.M.C.A. Glinz Lake camp director, inviting the members to visit the camp tomorrow evening.

An automobile driven by Mrs. A. W. McVittie, 1565 Wilmot Place, was in collision with a street car operated by Daniel Arnason, at the intersection of Wilmot Place and the Oak Bay car line yesterday. Oak Bay police reported. There were no personal injuries, but Mrs. McVittie's car was reported damaged.

Regina Minister Holidays in Town

"The prairie crops, although they will be better than for some years, will not come up to expectations, because of grasshoppers, rust and hail storms," said Rev. W. H. Brookfield Scharpe of the Anglican Church synod office at Regina, who is in Victoria on his annual summer vacation. He is at the Empress Hotel.

Prairie farmers are naturally disappointed, because they anticipated a bumper crop this year, after many seasons of failure. They are not down-hearted, Mr. Scharpe said and are thankful to have even a better crop than the bad ones of recent years.

For 25 years Mr. Scharpe has lived in Regina and has come to Victoria for his holidays. He has many former parishioners in the city who are welcoming him. He expects to remain in the city until September 1.

Two More Boys To Join R.A.F.

Two more young Vancouver Islanders, John T. Jenkinson of Duncan and Leslie Clarke of Victoria, will leave on Saturday to join the Royal Air Force in England.

They will travel from Seattle to New York by bus and sail on a Cunard-White Star ship for Liverpool.

Jenkinson is the son of Robert P. Jenkinson, proprietor of the Ideal Meat Market in Duncan. He is a former member of the Second Battalion (M.G.), Canadian Scottish Regiment, and has always been interested in aviation. He is well known up-island as a builder of model planes.

In Victoria today to make arrangements for his trip, he said he wanted to get into the engineering end of the air force.

Clarke is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Clarke, 383 Sunset Avenue. He is more interested in actual flying.

In England the pair will find more than a score of Vancouver Island boys already serving in the R.A.F.

Province Gives Naval Picnic

A picnic for 100 young naval men is being arranged for Sunday afternoon by the provincial government at the instance of Premier Pattullo.

Eighty men from H.M.S. York and 20 from the Canadian navy will form an outing party that will leave Esquimalt at 1.15 Sunday for Duncan. A suitable picnic spot near the island town is being selected.

Informal sports and entertainment with a picnic supper are planned, the men returning by bus in the evening.

Plans Drafted For 1939 Fetes

Northwest Celebration Co-ordination Scheme To Be Aired Tonight

Drafts of proposed celebration programs next year were being prepared today by city and visiting delegates to tonight's mayors' dinner and conference on 1939 activities at the Empress Hotel.

Alderman W. H. Davies, chairman of the city's celebration committee, had several events tentatively listed for the coming year and will discuss them with schemes of outside centres in a joint northwest move to attract travel to this section of the continent following the San Francisco exposition.

Final details for the Old English dinner which will precede the business session were being completed today as out-of-town guests arrived for the function.

Last night Mayor Joe Carson of Portland reached the city. His celebration party, including Queen Frances Hulse, Rose Festival monarch and her attendant princesses, Marjorie Ruhndorf and Bettie Jean Compton will reach the city tomorrow evening in time to attend the Navy Ball at the Empress Hotel. A limited number of tickets are still available for the latter event.

WELCOME BY MAYOR

Following the reception of out-of-town visitors for tonight's gathering at the hotel, the assembly will gather for the dinner over which Mayor Andrew McGavin will preside. Mayor Carson will reply to the welcome extended by the city's chief magistrate and Alderman Davies will explain the purpose of the gathering.

A discussion period will be held, during which community tourist ideas will be aired. The meeting will then accept resolutions of a nature aimed to make a joint northwest appeal to visitors to the coast.

The feastibility of creating a continuing committee to carry on co-ordinated efforts in the future will be considered and, if the proposal meets support, officers will be named and a time and place set for the 1939 session.

INDIAN T.B. IS COMBATTED

Province Joins Ottawa in New Fight Against Disease

Provincial and federal governments have launched a co-operative scheme to combat tuberculosis in British Columbia, Hon. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary, announced today.

The Dominion Government, he said, recently set aside $275,000 for anti-tuberculosis work among the Indians, and of this $60,000 has been allocated to British Columbia, where 25 per cent of the Indians live.

"To prevent duplication," said Dr. Weir, "all work will be co-ordinated with the well-organized provincial anti-tuberculosis program, and the facilities of the tuberculosis division of the Provincial Board of Health will be utilized to the fullest possible extent."

Major D. M. MacKay, the Indian commissioner for British Columbia, and Dr. A. L. McQuarrie, chief medical officer for the Indian affairs branch in the province, are co-operating with the Provincial Secretary's department in bringing about the new development. Work is already well under way. New beds have been made available for the treatment of Indians. Surveys in the schools have been intensified, and new preventoria will be established in connection with the residential schools. Plans have been developed for extending the service as funds permit, Dr. Weir said.

Awaits Hearing On Three Charges

A second charge of obtaining goods by false pretenses was laid against Charles N. Pearce in the City Police Court this morning. Pearce is awaiting hearing on one other charge of falsely obtaining goods and a theft count.

He was remanded until Tuesday at the request of A. J. Patton, defence counsel.

The charge laid this morning alleges the obtaining of goods from the Hudson's Bay Company to the value of over $25 by using a worthless cheque.

On a similar nature he is alleged to have secured $194 worth of goods from W. and J. Wilson and Co. The theft charge alleges the stealing of an electric razor from F. G. Walker.

W. R. M'D. PARR PASSES AWAY

Major Parr had a distinguished career as Commissioner of H.M. Customs in the Far East until his retirement, and also had served with distinction in the South African War. He was born on May 7, 1865, and in 1891, while with the Customs service in China, assisted in the defence of the foreign settlement at Wuhu during the Yangtze riots. He also was on special service with the Chinese forces during the Sino-Japanese war in 1894.

During the South African War he commanded a service company of the 3rd Royal Irish Rifles and served with the 11th Battalion Mounted Infantry from 1900 to 1903, being field officer as captain and later promoted to major.

Desmond M'Donnell Parr, and Mrs. Ellis, all of Victoria.

Crowning Ceremony Lauded By Visitor

A lady visitor from San Francisco was so carried away over the beautiful coronation ceremony that surrounded the crowning of Miss Kay White as "Miss Victoria" Monday night on the Parliament Buildings steps that she wrote a letter of congratulation to Miss White.

It reads in part: "It was a beautiful celebration last night for you and all visitors from hundreds of miles away. The exterior illumination of the Parliament Buildings and the Empress Hotel, with the moon and evening star low over in the western sky, was a setting never to be forgotten.

May you spend many happy hours as the chosen 'Miss Victoria' in our city, San Francisco."

Gay Navy Week Reaches Climax

Navy Week and the August celebration came to a climax today, following the city's birthday parade through city streets yesterday.

While mayors, councillors and reeves from many Pacific Coast town and cities gathered in conference, as guests of the City of Victoria, men of H.M.S. York and the Canadian Navy met in a sports gathering at Macdonald Park.

Following the parade yesterday hundreds of people went to Esquimalt to board H.M.S. York, and were shown over the big cruiser by obliging bluejackets.

The Parliament Buildings and the Empress Hotel gleamed in tiny lights last night in honor of the many visitors to the city, and hundreds of people walked across the Causeway.

Tomorrow night the City of Victoria will entertain the officers of H.M.S. York and the Navy Barracks at a formal ball in the Empress Hotel, the mayor and his aldermen acting as hosts.

Saturday night will see the last event of the week when the Junior Chamber of Commerce stages its torchlight procession through the streets of the city.

Saturday and Sunday afternoons the York will again be open to the general public and on Monday morning she will steam away from Esquimalt Harbor for Cowichan Bay and Vancouver.

Fingerprint Plan Is Not Favored

The provincial government is not favorable to the proposal of Alderman Fred Crone, M.P.P., in Vancouver to have automobile drivers fingerprinted as a matter of protection for the public.

Alderman Crone proposes an amendment to the Motor Vehicle Act at the next session which would allow fingerprinting, but it was learned today the government frowns on the idea. Without government approval the amendment would have little chance in the House.

The government, it is learned, sympathizes with Mr. Crone's idea of checking car drivers, but believes that the fingerprint plan would attach unwarranted opprobrium to those who drive cars. Fingerprinting is always associated with criminals.

UNIQUE RECORD

HALIFAX — The Halifax County tennis tournament probably set up a record that will be hard to beat. Rain and wet courts caused postponement of first round matches for five days after they were scheduled.

FAMILY LONGEVITY

HACKETT'S COVE, N.S.—The four Fralick brothers of this Halifax County village have reached a total of 355 years of age. John is the oldest, 94, George is 91, Charles, 89, and the youngest, Albert, only 81.

HEPBURN DROPS IN

Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario was in jovial mood when he paid an informal visit to Victoria by plane yesterday afternoon.

He maintained his reputation as the best story-telling politician in Canada when he chatted for two hours with Premier Pattullo and members of the B.C. cabinet.

The Ontario Premier arrived at Esquimalt at 5 in a plane owned by J. P. Bickell, Ontario mining magnate, and piloted by James Town. With them were Bernard E. Smith, Wall Street stock operator, and Col. Victor Spencer, Vancouver.

Premier Pattullo received a call from Premier Hepburn in Vancouver at 4 saying he was coming. The plane made the trip in 25 minutes and the B.C. Premier greeted the party at the plane dock.

"I haven't anything to say," said Premier Hepburn to newspapermen. "This is just a holiday tour.

Premier Hepburn met and chatted with Attorney-General Gordon Wismer and Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, and made a tour of the Legislative Buildings.

By 7.15 in the evening he was off again to Vancouver, pleased that he had included the B.C. capital in his tour of the west.

BUSINESS IN BRITAIN DOWN

Extreme Nationalism Having Injurious Effect in Europe, Says Chris Spencer

VANCOUVER — Extreme nationalism rampant throughout Europe, with each country trying to shut out the goods of the other, is having an injurious effect on business generally, Chris Spencer of David Spencer Limited stated on his return Tuesday from a business trip to Great Britain, Germany and France.

"Business is not nearly so good in Great Britain as it was last year," said Mr. Spencer, "owing to lessened demand for British goods as result of this nationalism.

"There are 500,000 fewer people employed at present than a few months ago. If it were not for the big armament program, which is in full swing, conditions would be very bad."

Mr. Spencer visited Berlin, but stayed only a short time in Germany. The thing that impressed him there was the tenseness of the people, apparent even to the casual visitor. They gave him the impression of waiting for something unpleasant about to happen.

The Vancouver merchant visited the Glasgow Exhibition and found it almost dominated by Scottish firms.

"Of course, the Glasgow Exhibition is not like the World's Fair at Paris, where all the countries erected special buildings. It is a British Empire fair, largely captured by the Scottish people."

tenth to give the Reds a 6 to 3 decision over the Phillies, moving the Cincinnati clouters into a third-place deadlock. The Cardinals nipped the Brooklyn Dodgers, 3 to 2, in a 10-inning night fuss.

Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics bombarded four pitchers with 34 hits to trample the White Sox twice, 14 to 2 and 13 to 5. Buck Newsom turned in his tenth win of the year in hurling the Browns to a 5 to 3 victory over the Senators.

COAST LEAGUE

Two good pitching performances moved the Sacramento Senators into a tie with the Los Angeles Angels for first place in the Coast Baseball League last night, and boosted the San Francisco Seals into third place.

Sacramento's Tony Freitas registered his 19th victory of the season and barely missed a shutout as he limited the San Diego Padres to six scattered hits and won, 9 to 1. Lou Koupal, who has been an in and outer all season, pitched real ball in the pinches as the Seals trimmed the Angels 4 to 2.

Taking advantage of five Oakland Acorn errors, the Hollywood Stars beat the cellar champs, 9 to 5. Each team collected 15 hits.

Seattle and Portland divided a twin bill. The Seattle outfit won the opener, 10 to 1 with the aid of home run swats by Mike Hunt and Freddie Muller. In the second game the Beavers staged a four-run revolt in the seventh inning and won the game 4 to 1.

In "Little Miss Broadway"

Here's the musical to thrill to: Shirley Temple's "Little Miss Broadway," now being shown at the Capitol Theatre. Shirley is starred, and George Murphy and Phyllis Brooks featured in the 20th Century-Fox hit, which surrounds the world's number one star with her grandest cast of troupers.

SHIRLEY IN SMART SHOW

Number One Star in "Little Miss Broadway" at Capitol

Shirley Temple always turns in a fine performance—as millions of fans will attest—but this time she gives you the time of your life!

She's a Shirley of surprises simply surrounded by singing, dancing, romancing, fun-making show people. And if you're thrillable, "Little Miss Broadway," which opened today at the Capitol Theatre, is the musical thing to thrill to.

The grand group of troupers which aids and abets Miss Temple is headed by that scintillating stepper, George Murphy; the irresponsible Jimmy Durante; gorgeous blonde Phyllis Brooks and Edna Mae Oliver, the popular, prim and prudish grande dame of filmdom.

To make this the go-happy musical thrill hit of the year six new Bullock and Spina melodies radiate from the romance, and the hit selectors can choose from "Be Optimistic," "We Should Be Together," "If All the World Were Paper," "Swing Me an Old-fashioned Song," "How Can I Thank You" and "Little Miss Broadway," the title song.

Led by the astonishing, amazing and brilliant Shirley, everything ends as it should—especially after Shirley convinces an austere judge that he should permit the actors to stage their show in the courtroom.

"Vivacious Lady" Comes to Atlas

Co-starring Ginger Rogers and James Stewart as a new romantic team, "Vivacious Lady," a sparkling, fast-moving comedy, opens tomorrow at the Atlas Theatre.

The film is a vehicle for titian-haired Ginger Rogers, whose recent triumph was in "Stage Door," and for James Stewart, who scored decisively opposite Simone Simon in "Seventh Heaven," and later in "Wife versus Secretary," "After the Thin Man," "Rose Marie," and others.

"Vivacious Lady" was directed by George Stevens and produced by Pandro S. Berman.

Where to Go Tonight

(As Advertised)

ATLAS — Shirley Temple in "Little Miss Broadway."

CAPITOL — "Trader Horn," with Edwina Booth.

COLUMBIA — "Wild Horse Rodeo," starring Bob Livingstone.

DOMINION—Luise Rainer in "The Toy Wife."

OAK BAY—Gary Cooper in "Marco Polo."

PLAZA — "The Beggar Student," starring Johannes Heesters.

HOLD FILM FOR ONE DAY

"The Beggar Student" Continues Today at Plaza

Like its predecessors, the German screen operetta, "The Beggar Student," which will close today at the Plaza Theatre, is generously equipped with enchanting waltzes, and to please the eye there are picturesque 18th century costumes and any number of lavish settings. The production has been furnished with English titles.

"MARCO POLO" AT OAK BAY

Samuel Goldwyn's Screen Masterpiece Features Gary Cooper

A magnificent cavalcade of romance, splendor, excitement and fun moves swiftly across the screen of the Oak Bay Theatre today in Samuel Goldwyn's greatest screen masterpiece, "The Adventures of Marco Polo."

The production offers Gary Cooper in his most romantic role as the swashbuckling adventurer who was the world's first traveling salesman and opened the first important trade route between Europe and Asia during the colorful reign of the great Chinese Emperor, Kublai Khan, fighting and loving as he went.

The picture also introduces Sigrid Gurie, the Norwegian beauty discovered by Goldwyn, who completely captivates audiences with her rare loveliness, charm and ability.

"WILD HORSE RODEO" HERE

Airplane Used in Round-up in Rousing Show at Columbia Theatre

The Three Mesquiteers are at it again. Stony, Tuscan and Lullaby, as portrayed by your old favorites Bob Livingston, Ray Corrigan and Max Terhune, have their packet of trouble in "Wild Horse Rodeo," at the Columbia Theatre, all on account of "Cyclone," the famous wild horse. Go along and see for yourselves how the three heroes fight, and ride, and love, in a thrilling, dashing yarn packed with excitement and incident which rivals Dumas' famous "Three Musketeers."

June Martel is the beautiful heart-interest, loved by Bob Livingstone and Ray Corrigan, and when you see her you don't wonder at it. Walter Miller as Colonel Nye is a tough menace, and he certainly gives the three pals plenty to think about—not to mention plenty to fight about also. The thrills include wonderful exhibitions of rodeo riding, some rousing fights, and, best of all an exciting attempt to capture the run-away wild horse with the aid of an airplane. It has to be seen to be believed.

Check your dignity at the door when you go in to see "Cowboy From Brooklyn," which opens tomorrow at the Dominion Theatre. Comedies don't come any funnier than this musical saga of a cowboy who never rides the range because he's scared to death of horses.

With the exception of a few sentimental interludes and some musical moments every minute of this production, which features Pat O'Brien, Dick Powell and Priscilla Lane, has at least 59 seconds of hilarious comedy, with the result that the audience will roar with laughter almost continuously from the first scene to the last.

Montanan Slain By Policeman

HELENA, Mont. (AP)—George Whitcomb, 37-year-old mine owner, and son-in-law of former Governor John E. Erickson of Montana, was shot and killed early today during an altercation with patrolman Tom Martin, 60, of the Helena police department.

In a statement to County Attorney Harold K. Anderson, Martin said he was patroling his beat when he saw two men in the shadows near a monument works.

Martin said he went to investigate and recognized Whitcomb and Tom Curtis, a Helena restaurant proprietor.

The patrolman said he talked to them for a minute or two and when he turned to go Whitcomb, who was six feet tall and weighed 208 pounds, grabbed him around the neck. Martin told the county attorney he swung with his club and struck Whitcomb once and both fell over a tombstone.

Whitcomb, the statement said, seized the club and the patrolman drew his gun and fired one shot.

The bullet struck Whitcomb in the abdomen, ranging upward through the chest. He died almost instantly.

HEAVY MILLING ON NAVY BOXING CARD

ponent's jaw to put him away for good.

The next bout was also a knockout feature with A.B. Aston, York, putting away A.B. Bell, also from the York. This fight was in the welterweight division. The knockout came in the final round after Aston had knocked Bell to the canvas six times with straight stiff rights and lefts to the face.

FAST KNOCKOUT

Ord. Sciban from the St. Laurent put Sto. Brown, York, to sleep in the other welterweight fixture on the card. Sciban bounced out from his corner at the bell and it was but a few seconds before he measured Brown and laid it on to put him away.

The fourth knockout came in a bout in the light-heavyweight division between Stwd. Stamford, York, and Ord. Thompson, St. Laurent. Stamford took about a round and a half to size up the situation, and then it was all over with an unmerciful left uppercut to Thompson's jaw.

Ord. Cockburn, York, came out on the healthy end of a technical knockout in the second round of a fight with Ord. Bombardiere, R.C.N.B. Cockburn took the offensive from the beginning, and he soon had the naval barrack's boy weary. The fight was called after Bombardiere had gamely taken battering blows from all quarters from the York fighter.

In a light-heavyweight bout, A.B. Coupland, York, lost out technically to Ord. Fears, Fraser. Fears held the offensive all the way with a fancy left hook, showing up well at various times.

Heavyweight Sto. Rich, York, also gave up the ring in an encounter with Sto. DeCosta, Fraser. DeCosta let the leather fly in every direction in this tussle and the blows fell hard on body and face of his opponent.

GOES THREE ROUNDS

A third light-heavyweight bout brought together A.B. Houghton, York, and Ord. Fitzsimmons, St. Laurent, which went the full three rounds with Fitzsimmons taking it by a popular decision. The York fighter showed plenty of courage in taking painful punishment from the Canadian fistic artist.

Ord. Fraser, R.C.N.B., took the only middleweight fight of the evening from Sto. Philpot, York, by a decision. The fight showed lots of mixing with very few clinches. Fraser directed his bullet-like punches to the head of Philpot, receiving a majority of body blows.

Ord. Cresswell, York, took a decision in his lightweight mix with Ord. Williams, St. Laurent. Williams bled profusely after a few seconds of exchanging blows, but he stayed the three rounds, handing out similar punishment to what he was receiving at times.

In the featherweight class Ord. Anderson, York, fired his way to victory over Ord. Gwilt, R.C.N.B., in a decisioned fixture. Anderson won the majority of his points in the third round when he opened up, showering Gwilt with lefts and rights to body and head.

BARDSLEY AND SIDAWAY SCORE COURAGEOUS WIN

when Brawn and Hawes won the third game. Brawn and Hawes broke through service on the fourth game to lead 3 to 1. The champions rallied to break through Hawes' service and take their own to tie up the games score at four all. Games followed service until Bardsley and Sidaway broke through on the 11th game to lead 6 to 5. With Sidaway serving, the new titleholders put the match away 7 to 5, Bardsley winning the final point with a cut at the net.

Men's singles in the B.C. championships has developed into practically an all-American affair with Brawn the lone remaining Canadian. The Vancouver star advanced at the expense of D. Woodbury, Los Angeles, 4-6, 6-1, 6-4. Bobby Carruthers, Coronado, top seeded, needed only two sets to eliminate Don Lewis, Portland, 6-3, 7-5. H. Wagner, San Francisco, another strong entry, dropped the first set to Bardsley, but ran out the next two to win 4-6, 6-2, 6-1.

Dranga was another straight-set victor, eliminating Byron Page, Seattle, 6-1, 9-7.

Miss Jean Campbell and Mrs. R. V. Hocking, Victoria's two leading entries in the women's singles, both suffered defeat. The former was eliminated by Kay Staples, Duncan, 6-4, 6-1, while Mrs. Hocking took a single game from Eleanor Young, Vancouver, 6-1, 6-0. Miss D. Buckell, Oakland, beat Miss R. Sherman 6-4, 6-1.

WHEAT PRICES UP FRACTIONS

WINNIPEG (CP) — A firm tone prevailed in Winnipeg wheat futures today but prices made little headway due to lack of buying power. Final quotations were ⅛ to ¼ higher, October 76⅞, November 76⅜, December 75½ to 75⅝ and May 78 cents.

Apart from a scattered export business, both in old and new crop wheats, and light favorable intermarket spreading, dealings were at a standstill.

Traders both at Winnipeg and Chicago, awaiting the Canadian wheat board pegged price announcement, were without incentives to buy or sell.

Liverpool closed ¼d higher to 1⅛d lower.

Buenos Aires was slightly down at noon and Chicago virtually unchanged.

Slow cash wheat transactions were made at unchanged spreads for top grade red springs. Durums improved fractionally due to improved export inquiry.

Coarse grain prices were steady.

CHICAGO (AP) — Reports of peace overtures by Japan to Russia led to moderate downturns of wheat prices here late today.

Heavy clearances of wheat out of Russia, together with weakness of the Liverpool market, aided in minimizing war talk. Bright new crop prospects in Argentina also attracted notice.

Chicago wheat futures closed ⅛ to ½ cent lower compared with yesterday's finish, September 67¼, December 68¾ to 68⅞; corn unchanged to ½ higher, September 54¾ to 54⅞; December 52⅜ to 52½, and oats unchanged to ¼ off.

Selected Industrials Make Some Headway

NEW YORK (AP)—Buyers exhibited a liking for selected industrial stocks in today's market and neglected numerous other issues.

In an exceptionally slow session of mild ups and downs, steels and motors were able to finish with gains running to a point or so. But top marks were whittled down near the close and losses of moderate proportions were plentiful.

The list opened with slight advances for the favored groups. Prices occasionally backed away in profit taking interludes, but there was no pickup in volume. With the ticker tape loafing the greater part of the day, transfers approximated 600,000 shares.

Steels were benefitted by another expansion in mill operations at Pittsburgh and unconfirmed reports a small mid-west independent steel company had started the wage adjustment ball rolling by an agreement with its workers for a downward revision of pay rate. Talk of a slash in motor steel prices persisted and attracted friends to the automotive stocks.

Some secondary rails showed marked weakness today in the bond market. The group as a whole toward the last hour was uneven.

Utilities and oils were steady, and industrials irregular.

U. S. government obligations were steady, selling 3-32nds of a point higher to 2-32nds lower.

Rail losers of from one to three included B. & O. 4s, the refunding 5s, and the convertible 4½s, Delaware & Hudson refunding 4s, Atlantic Coast Line Collateral 4s, and Great Northern 4½s of '77 series E.

Falling Heroes

A dog was the first parachute jumper. He didn't know it was going to happen before he went down the first time, but he did it and did it well.

The event took place in France on an August day in 1785—only three years after the invention of the balloon. Jean Blanchard was the owner of the dog, and he had made a parachute in the form of an open umbrella. A basket was fastened to the under parts of the umbrella.

Blanchard's dog going down.

After rising in a balloon in the presence of a large crowd, he placed the dog in the basket and let it drop. Slowly the parachute settled to the ground, and the dog was none the worse for wear.

The crowd was so well pleased that Blanchard let the dog fall again and again. Each time it came safely to the ground.

An old record states that Blanchard himself dropped in a parachute eight years later, but fell so fast that he broke his leg. The first successful descent by parachute seems to have been made by another Frenchman, Jacques Garnerin. In 1793 he went up more than 2,200 feet above a park in Paris. Then he loosened his parachute and fell slowly to the ground. While he was going down, his balloon kept going up, and went so high that it burst.

A few years later Garnerin made another famous descent in a parachute. Thousands of English folk watched him rise about a mile and a half in the air. He stood in a basket two feet wide and four feet high.

A dome-shaped umbrella, 23 feet wide and made with heavy canvas, was fastened to the basket. The umbrella had a small hole in the centre, and was attached to the balloon net by a hoop.

Garnerin was able to break the connection between the parachute and the balloon, but what thoughts he must have had as he looked down a mile and a half. No doubt he trembled as he took leave of the balloon and started toward the earth. Down, down, he fell, holding fast to the swaying basket. At last he reached the ground. His basket struck the ground with force, and fell over, but except for a few small cuts the brave airman was not hurt.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

Friday, August 5, 1938

Benefic aspects rule today, according to astrology. It is a time for financiers and business men to safeguard their interests.

In the morning constructive ideas should guide. Courageous projects may be launched with confidence.

Under this configuration engineering and building activities should be pushed persistently. Battleships and airplanes will hold the attention of Americans through the autumn.

While stimulating influences are discerned all through the daylight hours, this is not an auspicious date for signing contracts or other legal papers. Startling news is forecast from foreign countries.

Labor continues under disturbing aspects which will prevail throughout the autumn. Astrologers foretell new methods of co-operation between employers and employees.

Beauty specialists should profit under this planetary government, which presages elaborate fashions requiring professional treatment.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of hard work with fair profits. Pleasure is foreseen for both men and women. New friends are indicated, but caution in speech with them is enjoined.

Children born on this day probably will be exceedingly clever. Subjects of this sign usually are talented and energetic. These subjects of Leo are successful and popular.

Robert Woods Bliss, diplomat, was born on this day, 1875. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Guy de Maupassant, French writer, 1850; James Monroe Taylor, onetime president of Vassar College, 1848.

Butterflies of some species have hearing organs on the thorax.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I have studied food values, balanced meals and child care, and keep my husband and children healthy and happy. I am only a fair housekeeper, but I read the papers and good books so that my husband will have a companion for a wife and not just a cook. All would be well except that every once in a while my mother-in-law descends on us and tries to regulate us. She cooks my husband what she calls a "decent" meal that is guaranteed to give any one dyspepsia. She rocks her poor little mistreated grandchildren to sleep. She cleans the house from attic to cellar and misplaces everything. She feeds the kiddies pie and fried chicken, tells me how I should raise my babies and that I should never leave my children with a servant but drag them with me wherever I go. And when she leaves the kids are sick, all of the furniture in new places and I am a nervous wreck. How shall I meet this problem? Shall I tell her to mind her own business and that I am going to run my own home in my own way? Or shall I descend on her house, drag out her precious old junk, burn half of it, tell her about vitamins and balanced rations, tell her that her family needs sleep, deride her old fashions as she does my modern ideas, and tell her she is 50 years behind the times, upset her house and her regulations and her family as she does mine? MRS. K. L.

Answer—Of course, it would be nothing but poetic justice for you to pay your mother-in-law back in her own coin and for you to upset her manner of living just as she upsets yours, but justice is not a domestic virtue and it never prevails in the family circle. We cannot give tit for tat to those near and dear to us, no matter what they do to us, when we know that their offences are prompted by love and interest and a desire to help us. We can only take it and pretend we like it.

Delegates Sail For Sydney Conference

Trade, Immigration, Finance and Military Co-operation To Be Discussed

Thirty Canadian and United Kingdom delegates to the second British Commonwealth Relations conference at Sydney, N.S.W. sailed from Victoria last night by Ms. Aorangi.

The opening sessions of the conference are scheduled September 3 at Sydney.

"The agenda for the conference," said Ivison Macadam, conference secretary, is based on an acceptance of the fact that the British Commonwealth is a group of autonomous and equal nations scattered over the globe, each with its particular interests and problems, and that a careful consideration of these problems is the most constructive approach to the possibilities of co-operation between them.

"That means almost anything. It includes trade, immigration, finance and even military co-operation," he said.

The British group of 13 was led by Sir John Pratt, former foreign Office official; Gen. Sir John Burnett-Stuart, Admiral Sir Howard Kelly and Prof. Sir Alfred Zimmern.

Miss Grace Hadow, only British woman delegate and a member of the British Broadcasting Corporation advisory council, said she was representing British women at the conference.

Following is the list of Canadian delegates: E. J. Tarr of Winnipeg, chairman of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs; J. S. McLean of Toronto; Gordon S. Harrington, former Premier of Nova Scotia; C. J. Burchell, K.C., Halifax; Hugh Blake, Toronto barrister; Frank Scott, professor of civil laws, McGill University; Prof. Percy Corbett, McGill; Dean Brittain of McDonald College, McGill affiliate; Prof. K. Taylor, economist, McMaster University; Prof. Norman McKenzie, University of Toronto; Paul Martin, Liberal French-Canadian M.P. for Essex East; Gen. Griesbach, Edmonton Senator, and Prof. George Britnall, economist, University of Saskatchewan.

The Marquis of Lothian, leader of the British party, was not in the group as he flew directly to Australia by Imperial Airways.

JACK B. LAFLIN

who will leave Saturday for Montreal to sail by Ss. Duchess of Bedford for Liverpool, where he will join the training school ship H.M.S. Conway. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Laflin, 141 Eberts Street.

Around the Docks

H.M.S YORK

H.M.S. York, flagship of Vice-Admiral Sir Sidney J. Meyrick, has the distinction of being the first Royal Navy ship to be drydocked in the Esquimalt graving basin since it was completed in 1926.

The British cruiser, which is 540 feet long and has a displacement of 8,250 tons, was floated into the drydock punctually at 8, and gangs of men from Yarrows Limited got to work on her as soon as the water had been pumped out.

During her recent cruise of British Columbia and Alaska waters, H.M.S. York fouled a submerged obstacle and damaged her propellers.

Repairs will be completed by Monday, when the cruiser is scheduled to sail for Vancouver on a 14-day visit before returning to the Bermuda station.

HOPECROWN TOMORROW

First thing in the morning, British freighter Hopecrown will warp alongside the Canadian National docks in the outer harbor to commence stowing lumber for African ports, according to Henry King, of King Bros., shipping agents.

The Hopecrown is due to leave Port Alberni at 3 this afternoon for Victoria.

Two freighters will get away from the Canadian National docks after taking a total of 2,350,000 feet of lumber.

Dallington Court, which has loaded 1,750,000 feet here, will sail at 5 this afternoon for Cowichan Bay.

Starcross, which stowed 600,000 feet, is posted to leave at 4 for Port Alberni.

RUSSIA OUTBOUND

Carrying a good list of passengers and general cargo and mails, Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Russia, Capt. J. F. Patrick, will sail from Victoria Saturday evening on her return voyage to the Orient.

Since she was drydocked for overhaul at Esquimalt, the Empress has been stowing cargo at Vancouver and will sail on schedule.

She will reach Pier 2, Rithet Docks, at 4 Saturday and clear at 5.30 for Yokohama, Shanghai, Hongkong and Manila.

AUSTRALIA LOADINGS

Renewed activity in log and lumber shipments from British Columbia to Australia is indicated by the latest charters announced by Seaboard Shipping Co. Ltd.

First of the latest charters, British Ss. Harpasa, is scheduled to arrive at New Westminster August 20 to commence loading for Australia. Ss. Trevorian will follow about five days later and will start loading at Vancouver, shifting to the river port two days later and completing at Vancouver Island ports early next month. British Ms. Riley is slated for September 8 at New Westminster, finally clearing from Victoria. Two vessels previously reported, Ss. Nailsea Manor and Ss. Nailsea Meadow, are due August 23 and 26.

BELLINGHAM VISITORS

Several hundred visitors from Bellingham, Wash., reached Victoria at 12.40 this afternoon by Ss. Princess Victoria. The excursionists will spend the afternoon shopping and sightseeing, and will leave in the evening on the return trip to Bellingham.

The Princess Victoria will carry an excursion from this port to Vancouver Thursday, August 11.

DUE SUNDAY NIGHT

Ss. President Jefferson, last of the American Mail Line ships to arrive from the Far East, is expected to make quarantine by 7 Sunday evening, according to William M. Allan, general agent.

The liner has a restricted number of cabin passengers, mails and general cargo.

She has about 200 tons consigned to Victoria.

Canada At War When Britain Is

"No Commitment Policy" Ineffective, Says Prof. MacKenzie

In practical politics—and perhaps by law—Canada is at war when Great Britain is at war, notwithstanding Premier Mackenzie King's "no commitment policy," in the opinion of Prof. Norman Mackenzie, of the University of Toronto, who sailed by the Aorangi last night as a member of the Canadian delegation to the second British Commonwealth Relations conference at Sydney, Australia.

"That was the situation in 1914 and Canada went to war," he explained. "We have never passed legislation since then to ensure our neutrality, as South Africa and Ireland have done. I maintain there is presumptive evidence that Canada is still legally in the same position."

He said he did not believe the Statute of Westminster had changed the position from 1914, although he admitted some legal authorities argue the King can only declare war for Canada on the advice of his Canadian ministers. But this reasoning, he said, could place His Majesty in "an impossible situation" since it might make him at war and neutral at the same time.

"But these arguments are academic," Professor Mackenzie declared. "Foreign policy is founded on realism. And practical reasons, such as Canada's function as a supply base for Great Britain, will probably have the same effect in involving us in war."

He expressed the opinion that Premier King's policy of "no commitments" will have no effect on making Canada neutral in a possible war. He doubted if Parliament would make the final decision, anyway, since cabinets have always acted first in the past.

Badly Burned In Gasboat Explosion

VANCOUVER (CP) — A gasboat explosion off a cannery dock at Ceepeecee on the west coast of Vancouver Island late yesterday sent one fisherman to hospital with burns which may prove fatal. A fellow fisherman was blown from the craft's deck into the water but was uninjured.

Arnold Wenberg was brought to hospital here by W. E. Gilbert, superintendent of Canadian Airways Pacific division.

Gilbert, making a routine inspection trip, answered a radiophone call picked up while disembarking passengers at nearby Zeballos. With Dr. J. King Kelly of Zeballos, Pilot Gilbert flew to Ceepeecee and picked up Wenberg after the man had been given emergency treatment.
